

SHEPHERD IS EXPECTED TO TAKE STAND

COOLIDGE ASKS FOR "RELENTLESS" ECONOMY

PRESIDENT LIMITS EXPENDITURES FOR DEPARTMENT HEADS

Economy Is Means of Tax Reduction, He Says
In Address

Washington, June 23.—En-joined by President Coolidge to prosecute a campaign of relentless economy that the next congress may reduce the tax burden of the American people, government heads today began preparation of the expense estimates for the two years beginning June 30.

The president, addressing the semi-annual business meeting of department heads last night, limited expenditures in this period to approximately $6,750,000,000 exclusive of postal costs.

For the first year government cost will be about $3,375,000,000, appropriation for which has already been made. The president asked his department chiefs to keep within figure and to limit their estimates for the year beginning June 30, 1926 to $3,050,000,000.

The way has been paved for further tax reduction," President Coolidge declared. "This I will recommend to congress in the next budget."

At the business gathering the president said that he objective sought is "not merely a cutting down of public expenditures."

"This is only a means," he added. "Tax reduction is the end."

The president outlined economies accomplished during the four years of budget control, pointing out that the public debt has been decreased $3,426,000,000 and annual expenses cut $2,051,000,000.

"This is an accomplishment which justifies the abiding faith of the people in our form of representative government," the president said. "The history of public affairs will hardly show a parallel case of retrenchment in the cost of government. Nor will history show a more worthy motive."

The president estimated he surplus June 30 at $200,000,000 and that for the next fiscal year at $290,000,000. He pointed out that economy in government and tax reduction are inseparable. The president anticipates that tax reduction will be followed by a stimulation of business.

BODY OF SENATOR WILL LIE IN STATE

Washington, June 23.—The body of Senator Edwin F. Ladd, of North Dakota, who died yesterday at the Church Home and Infirmary in Baltimore, will be brought to Washington today. It will arrive at Union Station at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, following which it will lie in state today and tomorrow at an undertaking establishment.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at the Undertaking parlors after which the body will be consigned to a vault until Mrs. Ladd, who is seriously affected by her husband's death, is able to make the trip to North Dakota. The senator will later be buried in his adopted state.

COMPENSATION FOR ILL CATTLE RAISED

Columbus, O., June 23.—Maximum compensation for "grade" cattle found infected with tuberculosis and destroyed under the new area plan for eradication of bovine tuberculosis has been increased from $40 to $80, under new rules for indemnification of owners, State Agriculture Director Truax announced today.

Maximum compensation for destroyed pure bred was continued at $80. Recommendations were made by the state live stock board.

FRENCH AND SPANISH FORM ENTENTE TO BRING ABOUT NAVAL BLOCKADE OF RIFFS

Agreement On Action Against Tribes Made Public—Block
Moroccan Coast

Madrid, June 23.—Franco-Spanish troop movements against the Riffian tribesmen under a common campaign, developing further the entente already effective in the naval blockade, were regarded as possible outgrowths of the plenary session of the delegates today.

De La Rocca, French ambassador to Spain, held two lengthy interviews with General Jordana, the Spanish leader, in preparation for the important session.

COOLIDGE WILL VACATION WITH OUT GOLF OR TENNIS

Presidential Party Leaves On Special Train for Swamp-
scott—Sport Equipment Left at Home—Mayflower
Has Arrived at Summer "White House"

Washington, June 23.—President Coolidge will leave Washington this afternoon for a two months vacation on the North Shore of Massachusetts.

Golf bags and tennis rackets will be conspicuous by their absence insofar as the presidential baggage is concerned. Mr. Coolidge accepted the offer of a "summer white house" at Swampscott from his old friend, Frank W. Stearns, with the sole idea of getting away from official Washington to a spot where he could enjoy a complete rest, and the accepted forms of summer recreation do not appeal to the president as restful.

The presidential train—and it is again a "special"—will pull out of the local terminal a few minutes after one o'clock this afternoon. It is due to reach Salem, Mass., early tomorrow morning, from whence a four mile automobile trip will be made to Swampscott and "White Court," the Coolidge summer residence.

Accompanying the president and Mrs. Coolidge will be Secretary to the President, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sanders; Col. S. A. Cheney, military aid; Major J. F. Coughlin, physician; the White House secret service corps and eleven newspapermen and two photographers. The journey to New England will be made aboard a Pennsylvania railroad special composed of the president's car, a press car, an observation car, a dining car and a baggage car.

The president is anxious to be away from the capital while the White House is undergoing its annual repairs. Immediately upon his departure, workmen will start extensive renovation and re-furnishing.

The principal work to be done includes reconstruction of the elevator, installation of a new vacuum cleaning system and general refurnishing of the draperies and hangings. It is estimated that the entire $50,000 appropriation allotted by congress, will be utilized in the work. The now famous White House roof, which has been reported to every congress for the past five years as "unsafe and dangerous," will not be touched, owing to the failure of the last congress to make an appropriation.

Swampscott, Mass., June 23.—Carrying the domestic personnel of the summer white house, the presidential yacht Mayflower arrived off here today.

The Mayflower was met off Boston Light by a navy tug, which accompanied her into port and aided in the transfer of the baggage from the Mayflower.

President Coolidge and his official family are due here tomorrow morning from Washington by special train.

ATTEMPTED SLAYER OF KING BORIS DIES RESISTING CAPTORS

Would-Be Assassinator Is Slain
By Soldiers—Find Ring
Taken From King

Sofia, June 23.—The bandit leader Bonass, who sought the life of King Boris of Bulgaria, was killed today resisting soldiers who cornered him and his band in the mountains. Bonass' followers were captured, after two of them had been wounded.

On Bonass' body was found a ring which had been taken from King Boris himself and the watch which belonged to his adjutant, who was slain in the attack on the king.

Boris escaped the assassins, who were believed at the time to have acted in conjunction with a widespread communist-agrarian plot, by seizing the wheel of his automobile and driving it at breakneck speed away from the scene of the attack.

The king was attacked on a country road while returning to Sofia. The same afternoon General Georgiev, leader of the government party, was slain in Sofia. At Georgiev's funeral, the Sveti Kral cathedral was bombed and upwards of 160 lives were lost.

will operate against the Riffs were made public today in the directory's communique announcing the signing of the pact last night by General Jordana and Yaguirre Carcer, representing Spain and Ambassador Rocca and M. Sorbier for France.

In the blockade of the Moroccan coast, the warships of both nations will act, reserving the right of completely independent action, working toward the same end. All ports except those designed as open for trade, will be blocked. Spanish warships, under the agreements, may enter the ports of Oran and Emours in French North Africa and French ships may receive supplies or put in for repairs at Algeiras and Almeria, on the southern coast of Spain.

LOWER EXPENSES IS GOAL OF TRAVELING MEN AT CONVENTION

Organization Will Elect Officers
At Council Meeting in Columbus

Columbus, June 23.—Plans for obtaining reduction in railroad fare and lower hotel rates for traveling men are scheduled to be considered at the sessions of the Grand Council, United Commercial Travelers, opening here today. Officers for the coming year also will be elected.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is being urged by representatives of the U. C. T. to order reductions in rates on railroad scrips for traveling salesmen. The commission has had this proposal under consideration during the past three years. After the commission complied with the request an injunction prevented the decrease from becoming effective. Later the commission handed down an adverse ruling. Members of the U. C. T. it was stated, favor transferring their activities in this direction from the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission to congress.

For years, national officials of the U. C. T. here declared, they have been endeavoring to reach an agreement with hotel proprietors and managers providing for cheaper rates and better accommodations for traveling salesmen. Recommendations dealing with this situation are expected to be submitted to the grand council by a committee.

There are about 260 members of the grand council, which is the legislative body of the U. C. T.

ELECT LEADER

Observing the precedent of promoting officials to the next higher office, the grand council will select Fred L. Wright of Milwaukee, Wis., to succeed W. D. Mowry of Kansas City, Kan., now supreme counselor.

The convention program provides for a banquet on the night of June 24 and addresses by Governor Donahue of Ohio, and Congressman M. O. McLaughlin of Nebraska, who led the U. C. T.'s fight in Washington against the Pullman surcharges. McLaughlin's address is to deal with this subject.

It is expected the grand council sessions will continue about three days.

WARNS WOMEN

Columbus, O., June 23.—Warning was issued today by State Agriculture Director Truax to housewives to beware of coffee adulterated with chickory, cereals and other foreign substances, when sold without identifying labels. Such adulterated coffees have been found on sale at prevailing high prices, he said.

THROGS IN OMAHA APPLAUD AT PARADE OF DISABLED VETS

Blind and Crippled Ex-Service Men March at
D. A. V. Meet

Omaha, Neb., June 23.—Omaha experienced a war time thrill today. The occasion was the annual parade in connection with the fifth convention of the Disabled American Veterans. Since the battle-scarred veterans marched through the streets of Salt Lake City last year more than 4,000 of their comrades have died of disabilities incurred in the World War. With Major General George B. Duncan acting as marshal, and led by large detachments of various branches of the Regular Army followed by the combined civic organizations of Omaha acting as an escort, the disabled ex-service men marched through cheering throngs. The line of march was held to a length of one mile as a result of the specific request of the national officers of the organization, who learned at Minneapolis two years ago and at Salt Lake City last year that the disabled men fall from exhaustion when attempting longer parades.

WANT LAW CHANGED

From hospitals where they are undergoing treatment, from schools where by training they are attempting to overcome their vocational handicaps resulting from their physical ailments, and from other institutions, these men are in Omaha today to voice the views of their comrades, who desire certain changes in the law to aid in solving the vast problem of the war's disabled.

Today they walked with surprising military precision despite the scars they will carry to their graves, Frank J. Irwin, national commander, with a Distinguished Service Cross and other emblems on his uniform, headed the impressive fourteen divisions of the disabled.

In their accustomed position of honor came the blind group, in charge of Michael Aaronson, of Cincinnati; George Calvert, of Syracuse, and Michael Insulush, three Disabled American Veterans officials, who, like the section that followed them, were stricken blind in shell fire. The blind men were individually led by small school children of Omaha and the roar that greeted their appearance served to stimulate them along the line of march.

CRIPPLES CHEERED

Trailing the blind came the amputation cases—men whose limbs were left on the fields of France. While at times they wavered, their efforts to keep their lines straight were cheered by the crowds.

Carrying seven wounds and wearing not only the Congressional Medal of Honor voted by Congress as America's highest honor for valor, but also the decorations of six other nations, Richard W. O'Neill of the Rainbow Division and past national sergeant-at-arms of the Disabled American Veterans, had charge of the Medal of Honor section.

In charge of their respective national executive committees of the Disabled American Veterans the delegates tramped along in fourteen divisions drawn from the sections of the country in which their chapters are located.

No colors were carried by the divisions, for these were massed at the front—the national standards to the right and the organization colors to the left—and extended for more than a city block, while they passed through two lines of humanity, who stood at respectful attention.

Practically every civic group in Omaha was represented by different sections at the rear escort.

For two days the credentials committee has been meeting and tomorrow the whole convention settles down to business sessions, during which will be discussed relations with the Veterans' Bureau and the legislative program which will be presented to Congress at the next session.

CHAMBERS PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN CASE

New York, June 23.—A plea of "not guilty" was entered today by Talbot W. Chambers when he appeared before Justice Ford in the supreme court charged with a statutory crime as an outcome of his testimony in the divorce suit of Thomas H. Symington, of New York, Baltimore and Rochester, millionaire dealer in railroad supplies.

Justice Ford set the hearing of the charge against Chambers for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The arrest of Chambers was made at the request of Max D. Steuer, counsel for Mrs. Symington, defendant in the divorce action. Chambers testified several days ago to acts which he said had taken place in his own and Mrs. Symington's apartment.

LA FOLLETTE NAME IN RING FOR U. S. SENATE CAMPAIGN

Mrs. LaFollette or Robert Jr., Will Make Race for Seat
Made Vacant by Death of Senator—Progressives Make Program.

Madison, Wis., June 23.—A member of the LaFollette family, either the widow or the oldest son, Robert Jr., will make the race for the U. S. senate seat, made vacant by the death of Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

This was the definite program announced by national and state progressive leaders here today, for holding together harmoniously and unitedly the great political organization built by the dead senator.

The ominous war clouds that floated low over the Wisconsin political horizon, have lifted and the progressives after a series of quiet conferences, have ironed out threatening disrupting differences and agreed to present a solid front in attempting to send a LaFollette again to the senate.

Aspiring state officers, who had cast eyes toward Washington were told bluntly that they could not expect the support of senate progressives, who feel that, for political reasons, either Mrs. LaFollette or "Young Bob" as he is called, here, should make the race.

The warning was sounded by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, a LaFollette lieutenant in the senate, who issued a statement today declaring that "petty jealousies and personal ambitions must be forgotten." It was particularly directed at the officials who have quietly let drop the hint that they would not be adverse to contesting for the seat.

Miss Amelia J. Hall, trained nurse, who cared for William N. McClintock before his mysterious death, testified in the trial of William D. Shepherd in Chicago that everything possible was done to combat the youth's demise.

DARROW PLANNING BATTLE LINES FOR EVOLUTION TRIAL

Criminal Lawyer On Scene Of Conflict—Will Be New Case
For Him

Dayton, Tennessee, June 23.—Like all great generals, Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago lawyer, is on the scene of conflict beforehand, laying plans and mapping out battle lines for what he believes will be the greatest legal fight of his career.

This trial of Prof. John T. Scopes, charged with teaching evolution in violation of the Tennessee law is a new kind of legal battle for Darrow. Heretofore he has fought for the lives of accused criminals, but in the Scopes trial, as he expresses it, he is going to fight for his "own liberty and the liberty and constitutional rights" of his fellowmen.

Darrow is losing no time in familiarizing himself with the battlefields over which he will wage his greatest conflict. He is studying the customs and mannerisms of the people; he is acquainting himself with the background of the whole case—talking with Scopes' friends and reviewing the setting where originated the idea that has developed into a nationwide fight between evolution and fundamentalism.

PROPOSES DEBATE

Columbus, O., June 23.—Governor Donahue has been invited by John A. Cline, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Bar association, to debate with Attorney General Crabbe the subject of his executive vetoes at the annual meeting of the association at Cedar Point, July 10, it was announced here today.

Crabbe said he will accept the invitation.

COLUMBUS BOOTLEG KING CONVICTED; WILL ASK NEW TRIAL

Jury Returns Verdict Of Guilty Of Conspiracy In Ninety-
Five Minutes

Columbus, O., June 23.—Plans for a fight for a new trial were under way here today, following conviction of Michael De Angelo, commission merchant and reputed Columbus, bootleg king, with eight associates, on charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law.

Federal Judge Benson W. Hough will postpone passing of sentence until arguments are heard on a motion for a new trial. The jury of business men and farmers was out only 95 minutes in reaching its verdict. The nine defendants were found guilty on five counts of the indictment, the sixth having been nolleed on motion of Haveth E. Mau, United States district attorney.

Those convicted with De Angelo were: Tony Consentino; brother-in-law of De Angelo; Tony Colusi; Tony Dato; Joe Albanese; James Brosky; John Posterio, all admitted bootleggers; Jas. Ross and Charles Lombardo bookkeeper at the De Angelo place.

E. J. Messenger, former porter, who pleaded guilty and then turned informer, will be sentenced with the others. Marshals are still searching for Phillip Mercurio, who failed to appear for trial.

Bonds of De Angelo were increased from $10,000 to $20,000 and of Consentino, Albanese, Colusi and Lombardo, from $2,000 to $6,000 pending sentence. Bonds of Dato, Ross, Brosky and Posterio were continued at $2,000.

PASTOR'S WIFE SUES

Pomeroy, June 23.—The wife of Rev. W. F. Wilson, until recently a member of the board of commissioners of Meigs County, has filed a petition for divorce, alleging misconduct. Rev. Wilson replied with a counter petition, asking for a divorce and claiming his wife threatened to kill him.

KIRBY WILL LEARN FATE SOON IN TRIAL ON LARCENY CHARGE - EVIDENCE ENDED

Last Argument Given By State
Tuesday—Defense Predicting Acquittal

Cleveland, June 23.—Josiah Kirby, founder, and former head of the Cleveland Discount Company, will probably know today whether or not the jury of six men and six women in Judge Fred Wolf's court believe him guilty of larceny of 42 shares of the preferred stock of the concern. Kirby has been on trial for two weeks.

There yet remains before the jury gets the case the completion of the argument of Special Prosecutor Chas. Higley and the charge of the court. These, it was predicted, will be completed before the noon recess.

DEFENDANT TO TELL OWN STORY AS FINAL THRILL OF GERM CASE

Accused Will Testify
Against His Wishes,
Attorneys Claim

Chicago, June 23.—The Shepherd McClintock case today awaited its closing thrill.

This was to be provided, according to all indications by the appearance on the witness stand of William D. Shepherd, to tell for the first time under oath, his own story of the death of William Nelson McClintock, which made him a millionaire and which brought against him the state's indictment charging murder.

He was not to be a willing witness, however, according to information which his attorneys volunteered with great readiness. On the contrary they declared, he was taking the stand only as a result of their continued argument against his own wishes and better judgment.

His wife, also, according to the attorneys, is opposed to his testifying, holding that his confinement in jail has rendered him extremely nervous, a condition which she fears may react to his disadvantage under the searing cross examination of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Despite all this, however, and despite the fact that it is admitted by all the courtroom wise, that Shepherd's appearance case do little to bolster up the defense case, Shepherd's counsel for reasons which have not been made exactly clear have determined that he shall subject himself to Crowe's grilling. This, it is expected, will delve into his past life for Crowe already has declared he would attempt to show Shepherd as a life long ne'er do well, a parasite living on friends of wealth to whom he annexed himself.

A few minor witnesses will precede Shepherd on the stand but their testimony will occupy but little time and it is expected the defense will be able to rest its case at the conclusion of the defendant's testimony today.

Closing arguments probably will consume two days and the case probably will be given to the jury by Friday.

JOSEPHSON TRIAL ON IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, June 23.—Trial of Louis W. Josephson, Columbus attorney, on a charge of embezzlement of $105,000 while vice president of the Ohio Industrial Endowment Company, was to be continued today before Judge Kinkead in Franklin county common pleas court here.

County Prosecutor King seeks to prove that Josephson retained commission as high as 40 per cent in stock sales, the legal commission permitted under the blue sky law being 15 per cent.

FRENCH WILL LEAVE RUHR VALLEY SOON

Paris, June 23.—Evacuation of the Ruhr valley of Germany by French troops will begin within a few days. Decisive action for this step, so long urged by Germany, was taken today when the cabinet unanimously adopted the plan submitted by Premier Painleve and former Minister Briand, which called for the "total evacuation of the Ruhr," in conformity with the London agreement.

WANTS MURDER OF OHIOAN PROBED

Columbus, O., June 23.—The murder of J. W. Prime, former city manager and postmaster at Ashtabula, and later a real estate operator near Wildwood, Fla., May 28, will be investigated and every effort made to bring the guilty party to justice, Governor John W. Martin, of Florida, today informed Governor Donahue.

Governor Donahue, on June 11, wrote Governor Martin requesting an investigation, and in his letter he said he had been informed by investigators that Prime had been shot by Dr. R. E. Watts, South Jacksonville, Fla.

This is Kirby's second trial on charges growing out of the financial transactions of the concern. Previously he was acquitted of a charge of issuing a false financial statement.

Charges are pending against him in federal court of using the mails to defraud and indictments were returned recently in Delaware county, upon practically the same facts as have formed the basis of the trials here.

FORGERS DIDN'T FLOURISH WHEN COWS WERE CASH

ANCIENT Rome knew neither forger nor counterfeit. When the village tailor set a price of two cows, two sheep and one spring lamb for the new spring sport suit of inlaid armor, there was no chance to get by with a bad check. The tailor didn't know anything about checks. There was nothing to do but drive in your three honest to goodness cows and take your change in sheep, or lambs, or any other small animals the tailor might have in the till.

Money, says the dictionary, is "any material that by agreement serves as a common medium of exchange and measure of value in trade." And in ages gone by, mankind has agreed upon a variety of currencies that could never be adapted to present day commerce. But most of the ancient mediums of exchange possessed at least one distinct virtue—they offered no employment for the forger, the check raiser or the counterfeit.

Cave Man's Currency

In earth's early dawn our cave man ancestor traded his surplus of animal skins for a new stone hatchet. A few centuries later he traded those skins for bear claw necklaces and shell anklets with which to bedeck his mate. And so greatly prized did these primitive adornments become that they in turn assumed the importance and dignity of currency.

It was the advent of metals that first suggested to mankind the possibility of a medium of exchange that could be easily transported and would not possess the perishable qualities attaching to hides, oxen, grain and olive oil.

China, as might be expected, was one of the very first of the early civilizations to develop the use of metals as currency, using both copper and iron. Rome, which first used copper as a basis of its coinage, adopted silver in 269 as the result of the example of Greece.

In medieval European currencies, silver was the principal standard, but gold gradually assumed the ascendancy, and today it is pre-eminent throughout civilization.

Early American Exchange

America has seen every stage of the development of exchange. Although the earliest settlers had long known coin in their native lands, in the new world commodities were practically the only cash. They exchanged bright beads, knives, hatchets and iron pots for the grain, tobacco and furs of the Indians. A little later, in trade among themselves and with the mother country, they adopted leaf tobacco as a standard of value.

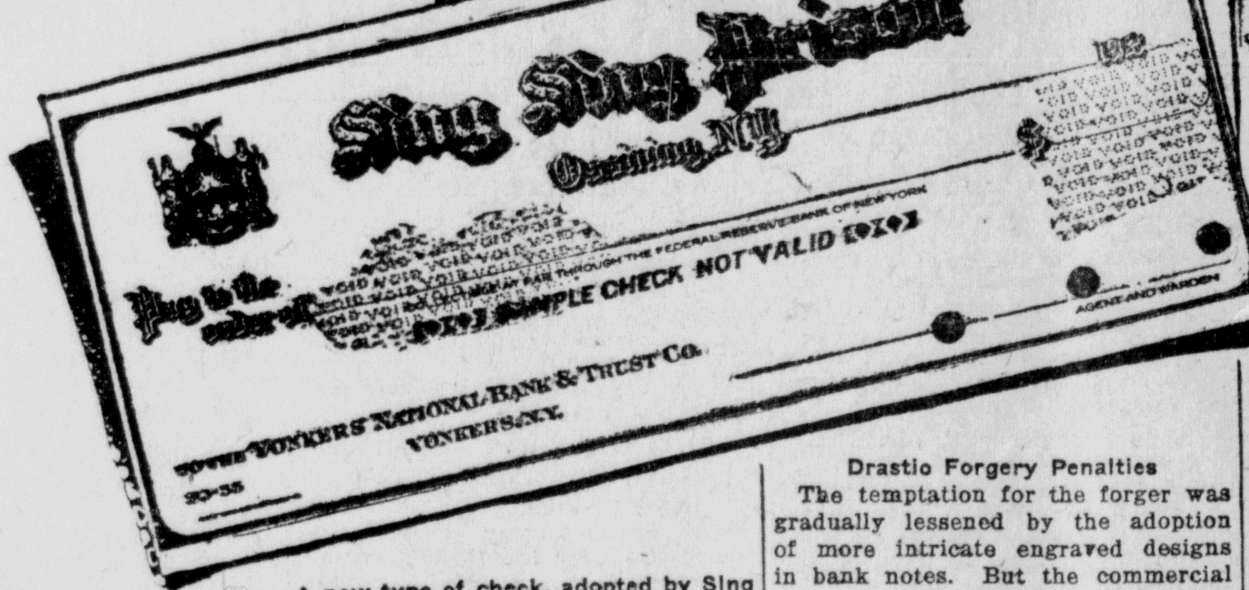

One of the interesting historical documents of the Colonial period is an enactment of the Virginia Assembly, authorizing the purchase of the original site of the city of Norfolk for "ten thousand pounds of good, merchantable tobacco and casks."

Cows and hides and grain and tobacco were honest coin. They represented human toil. They might be the subject of theft, but their value in exchange was never rendered unstable by forgery or counterfeit.

Evolution of Forger

The evolution of the forger and check raiser of today goes back only to the early days of the coining of precious metals. The early gold coins, when they were started on their long journey through commerce, conformed to a certain standard of weight. In passing through many hands, however, they became worn to a greater or less degree, still holding their original value. Those early coins had no milled edge, so the "coin-clipper" came into being. This early parasite made a practice of cutting off or wearing away a portion of the coin around the edges, and returning

ing the reduced coin to circulation. Honest intellects which in a later day probably would have interested themselves in check protecting devices, defeated the "clipper" by developing the milled edge. Whereupon the "clipper" immediately became a "sweater"—the process of "sweating" consisting of shaking a lot of coins in a bag until they were considerably worn down, the crook getting for his pains a quantity of metal dust.

The Coin "Plugging" Game

It was the same school of crooks, in all probability, who developed the technique of punching holes in coins, plugging the space with a cheaper metal and hammering over the surface so that the substitution would not be discovered. Instances have also been known of gold coins sawed in two, the gold dug out of the inside and the cavity filled with lead.

Commercial paper made valuable by the signatures of individuals, and banks or firms ushered in the millennium of the commercial crook, however. It was about 1695 that the Bank of England first issued a crude bank note in denominations of not less than five pounds. This pioneer institution was not long in lowering the amounts to one and two pounds, to the extreme delight of a large class of both amateur and professional crooks, and forgery grew apace. By 1760 the crime of forgery was rampant throughout England, and historians have recorded that by the end of the eighteenth century as many as 352 persons were convicted in a year of raising and forging Bank of England notes. The prisons were literally filled to overflowing with others awaiting trial for their share in this ridiculously easy fraud.

Drastic Forgery Penalties

The temptation for the forger was gradually lessened by the adoption of more intricate engraved designs in bank notes. But the commercial crook did not cease operations. He found it comparatively easy to take a one-pound note and increase the figures to several times that amount. This offense had become so serious in England by 1773 that some most drastic legislation was enacted, making the tampering with bank notes an offense punishable by death "without benefit of clergy."

Intricate designs, silk thread paper and other protective measures have gradually reduced the altering and counterfeiting of bank notes and paper money to a very low ratio, but there are still clever crooks who from time to time manage to peel a figure from a $5 bill, and place it over the figure "1" on a dollar note.

Enter the Draft

Money really began to have flexibility just before the beginning of the nineteenth century, when the bank "draft" was introduced into trade. But this introduction was also an open invitation to the forger and the "scratcher," as the expert penman who altered original drafts came to be known. From the year 1800, the word "cheque" became synonymous with "draft" as referring to a written order on a banker, and ultimately acquired its present meaning. But the cheque ushered in the golden age of the forger and he was quick to reap his rich harvest.

Truly, money had attained the long desired flexibility, but this flexibility brought with it a new menace that threatened for a time to destroy the usefulness of this new-found commercial wonder. Just as the developers of the milled edge checkmated the "clipper," so ingenious inventors set themselves to find a way out of a con-

trade, and becomes more expert with each passing year. Ink eradicating chemicals are readily purchased at any stationery store. Checks containing genuine signatures, the raw material of the "scratcher," are easily obtainable through robbery of business, residence and apartment mail boxes, and many other methods.

The American Institute of Accountants recently stressed the grave danger of forgery in a report which gave the number of checks used annually in the United States as six billion. The report further stated that ninety-five per cent of the business of this country is transacted by means of safeguards is likely, in the event of losses, to fail to establish the fact that ordinary precautions have been taken against alteration—often important when a bank overpays a check by reason of fraudulent alteration.

The crime of forgery can be prevented today. The personal currency created by the writer of a check can be as carefully safeguarded as a United States Treasury note. Mechanical devices for shredding the amount of the instrument in words in two colors have been developed to a high degree. Safety paper has also been developed to an extent undreamed of a few years ago. Forgery insurance affords still further safeguard. Business concerns all over the world are taking cognizance of the toll exacted by the forger, and are combining the devices at their disposal for combating commercial fraud. But the forger will continue to flourish until every check issued is surrounded with safeguards the forger cannot combat.

Prison Protects Checks

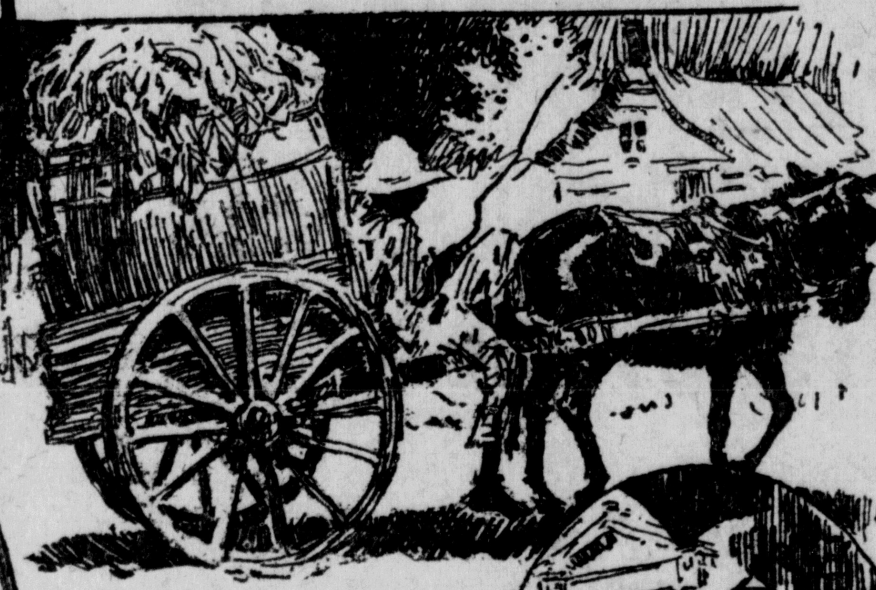

An interesting instance of the development of check protection is furnished by the check that has been adopted by Sing Sing Prison, at Ossining, N. Y. Sing Sing knows the forger and his ways. Within those grim walls many pen artists are "doing a stretch" for tampering with personal currency. So Sing Sing, in addition to the use of mechanical devices for impressing the amount indelibly into the paper, is using a safety paper which does queer things when ink eradicator is applied.

The modern business man creates currency at his desk by signing checks.

Chemicals remove the surface tint. But in its place, through chemical reaction, there appears in thickly clustered repetition, the word "VOID," to confound and defeat the forger.

It's a far cry from the day when cows were currency. And the old adage of "set a thief to catch a thief" has gone into the discard. It is the honest man, the chemist, the inventor and the scientist who are protecting the currency of today.

A hoghead of tobacco was the standard of value with the early American colonists.

dition that became so serious that banks were losing an enormous revenue through fear of general distribution of drafts.

Protective Devices Invented

Protective devices which punched the amount of the instrument out of the paper were employed. Tinted "safety" paper was developed. "Letters of advice," in which banks advised their correspondents daily of all drafts issued against the correspondent were employed. But the master crook kept right at it. He found that he could fill the punch holes and raise the amount easily. With chemicals he washed off the tint on the safety paper whenever desired, raised the amount of the check or draft, and restored the tint. He developed easy methods of defeating the "letter of advice."

The decline of "draft-raising" dates from about 1899, when protective devices were introduced which stamped the amount on the check unalterably, not only by breaking the fiber of the paper, but by forcing into the paper in indelible ink the sum for which the instrument was drawn. Banks then resumed their practice of selling drafts freely, and the commercial world drew a long sigh of relief.

Not yet has the forger and check raiser gone out of business, however. The "scratcher" still plies his instruments made valuable by the signatures of individuals or firms.

Check Protection Essential

Commenting upon the loss of $100,000,000 annually by American business through forgeries and embezzlements, the report expressed the obligation of the business man to protect himself against such losses in the following language:

"A large measure of protection can be secured against the alteration of checks and bills by giving attention to the style and form of the instruments. The use of safety paper and the various devices that safeguard against alterations is inexpensive and necessary. The individual or business house that fails to use these

ILLNESS MAY KEEP M'GRAW AND GIANTS APART AT CRUCIAL TIME IN LEAGUE RACE

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, June 23—It was intimated rather broadly today that the New York Giants, already cut down to the size of the field by injuries and a scandalous western trip, may be forced to part intimate company with John McGraw for the remainder of the 1925 season.

McGraw, convalescent from a rather serious illness, has not recovered his health with a celerity his physician have deemed necessary and the tip now is that he will do his master-minding at a point well removed from the playing bench.

Nothing official has been vouchsafed about the situation. In fact the matter has been pretty thoroughly "shushed."

But the present understanding, nevertheless, is that Hughie Jennings will continue to take active charge of the club and John McGraw will take active charge of himself.

It is hardly the time McGraw himself would select for a temporary retirement. The Giants need him as the plaster needs the paris, for the Pirates, giving the greatest exhibition of sustained hitting in the history of all baseball, are coming with the speed of a prairie fire.

They are only a game and a half back today and a continuance of their respective speeds soon will see the two clubs exchanging positions. Everything has gone to the falsetto in the Giant camp where a bit more than a month ago all was pink and pretty.

Injuries to Frisch, Groh, Lindstrom, Kelly, Terry and Scott followed in rapid succession, and at one time,

one might find difficulty in recognizing the Giants with a college boy on third base and a spavined catcher, twelve years in the minor leagues, playing first base.

Scott, one of three pitchers who have kept the club in front, was out for several days after a collision with Grimm at Chicago. Another, Bentley, was beaten several times by one run and the third proceeded to get himself suspended for conduct unbecoming a ball player, whatever that may be. The latter was Virgil Barnes, who claimed he sprained a careless ankle in a Pittsburgh bath tub. McGraw, however, pointed out that all Pittsburgh bath tubs are equipped with sandpaper and sent the young man home. That didn't do the club any particular good, either.

Finally, we have exhibit "A" in the person of Ross Young, a normal .340 hitter. He is stepping blithely along at about .225, and can't seem to accelerate the pace. That is an absurd performance for a man like Young in these days of the lively ball. All in all, it is not remarkable that the Giants have won only eight games in the last seventeen played.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

MODISH MITZI—Shoes An Important Matter This Summer By JAY V. JAY

After all, reflects Mitzi, Cinderella's slipper was only of plain glass. The summer fashions in footwear are much more interesting. These, for instance, are of white kidskin trimmed with loops and bindings of black kid.

A very special kind of lacing mark these out from the shoes of past summers. They are of white kidskin with trimmings of tan calf and have comfortably low heels—good for more active sports than reading.

What we have to consider here, of course, is the shoe. It is of white kid and the little dots are perforations—this craze for fresh air has gone so far—now you must let your feet breathe through perforated vamps!

There are dozens of odd leathers used for summer slippers. Mitzi chose these, nominally of lizard skin, because she says every time she looks at them she can be glad another lizard bit the dust. She'll hunt for snake skin ones next.

There is only ONE Duco — DU PONT Duco

DUCO is a specific product created and manufactured only by du Pont. It is applied to automobiles by 23 manufacturers and by authorized DUCO Refinishers. DUCO is not a paint nor a varnish. It is a finish of velvety smoothness and astonishing durability.

Naturally, a product with such remarkable qualities and immediate acceptance by the public is widely imitated. But the fundamental behind DUCO never can be imitated—for the accumulated experience of du Pont chemical engineers stands alone.

... and only one way to have it applied correctly

That is by taking your car to an Authorized Duco Refinishing Station—qualified by special training to apply DUCO, using the complete du Pont Duco System from the bare metal up. Look for the sign. Then, and only then can you be sure that you have — DUCO!

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 The longest wearing finish known | 3 A finish that is easier to keep clean |
| 2 A finish that gas, oil, mud, tar, battery acids, etc., cannot harm | 4 A finish in the shade and lustre of your choice |
| | 5 A finish that increases the re-sale value of your car |

—and finally a finish that requires only a very short time for the complete job.

EGOTISM OF IGNORANCE

MR BRYAN declares that the Tennessee prosecution of the young biology teacher will be the most important case ever tried in the United States.

Utterly ridiculous! Its publicity opportunities in relation to Mr. Bryan personally have confused that gentleman's better judgment—if he possesses such a thing as a better judgment.

The Tennessee law distinguishes an effort to establish fundamentalism as the religion of that state. The validity or the untenability of the theory of evolution, in this connection, is of no importance whatsoever. This discussion will be forced, of course, but such discussion should not be permitted. It is not germane to the issue. The question is: Can a state of this Union establish an official religion? Tennessee has made the attempt to do this. Her statute is plain. Under it young Mr. Scopes is guilty. The Court will have to declare him to be guilty. That is all there is to it, except—and here is the "important" part of the matter, a something that Mr. Bryan did not have in contemplation at all—the case will go to the one proper final tribunal for determination of the legal principles involved.

What the Supreme Court of the United States will do in the matter easily may be predicted.

With reference to evolution—of which Mr. Bryan appears to know less than nothing—he may learn at Dayton that it is vital to biology; that man and all other animals ascending from the lower order, and that biologists never contended man was descended from the ape, but that there are simply indications of a common ancestry.

With his monkeys and cocoanuts, Mr. Bryan is far from home, so to speak. He should heed the advice of Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, who in the current Forum refers the Commoner to Job, who says: "Speak to the earth and it shall teach thee."

It might further enlighten Mr. Bryan if he should read Canon de Dordot, of the great Catholic University of Louvain, who says in his "Darwinism and Catholic Thought":

"It is no exaggeration to say that, in showing us a creation more grandiose than we had ever suspected it, Charles Darwin completed the work of Isaac Newton, because, for all those whose ears are not incapable of hearing, Darwin was the interpreter of the organic world, just as Newton was the voice from heaven come to tell us of the glory of the Creator, and to proclaim that the universe is a work truly worthy of His hand."

Or Mr. Bryan might prayerfully consider these words of the eminent Hebrew, Rabbi Dr. Silverman, who declared in a recent address: "Evolution, I believe, is as much a law of God as air, gravitation, the law of heat, light, electricity and Einstein's law of relativity. If religion cannot stand the truth, then religion must fall."

Mr. Bryan might take to heart the comparison of a prominent Methodist minister, who recently averred: Bryan is like an elephant in a china shop."

FESS.

U. S. SENATOR S. D. FESS, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, is so close to the administration at Washington that his utterances on the foreign situation at the Norse celebration in Minneapolis, were interpreted by most as the actual opinions of the Coolidge regime.

During his speech, Fess declared France faces economic ruin and is furnishing an obstacle to the rehabilitation of Europe by its attitude of "debt repudiation," which indicates that the government may use its sternest pressure to bring about a remedy for a situation it considers so serious.

Senator Fess said the German situation created by the election of Hindenburg may be set at rest by a declaration from the German president himself that he will oppose restoration of a monarchy in that country. Fess is known to be deep in the counsels of his party at Washington as well as in close touch with the President himself, and his words in Minneapolis may therefore be taken as a correct reflection of the administration's views on these all important subjects.

A BIRD LANDLORD'S TROUBLE

We advertised a house for rent,
A little wren house, painted brown,
Where birds could live and be content,
The finest cottage in the town.
Since then a battle grim has waged
From dawn to dusk the warriors
The blue birds claim the spot engaged,
The wrens insist they want the place.
I, as their landlord, idly stand
And wish their bickerings would cease;
If I knew how I would command
Them instantly to give up peace.
But secretly I watch them fight

FESS SPEAKS AT TEACHERS' DINNER

Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, addressing the Ohio State Teachers' Association at a banquet Monday night, preceding the opening of that organization's summer convention Tuesday, said he would introduce an amendment to the United States senate rules at the coming session for limitation of debate during the last six days of any session.
Senator Fess told the educators that the United States stands by the world court, that France is strengthening her position on reparations, and that Germany had strengthened her relations by the recent election of Von Hindenburg.

M. L. J.: "Please publish directions for crocheting a rope necklace of beads."

Answer: Rope Necklace: Buy five bunches of small beads, 40 yards of either button hole twist or tatting thread, and two Venetian beads. String one bunch on the twist. Chain five, then put a bead in the chain stitch and join. Crochet around and around with a single crochet and put a bead in each stitch. Continue crocheting till the chain is 45 inches long. Put a Venetian bead on each end, and attach a tassel three inches long of eight double strands of beads.

A Reader: "Kindly publish a recipe for chocolate cake."

Answer: Chocolate Cake: Cream one cup of brown sugar with one-half cup of butter and also rub in one-half cup of white sugar. Add one-half cup of sweet milk, three beaten unseparated eggs, and one and one-half cups of flour sifted with one scant teaspoon of baking soda (no baking powder). Stir in two squares of unsweetened melted chocolate and bake this batter in three layer cake pans in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Put ordinary uncooked icing between layers and on top.

Mrs. C. A. R.: "I wonder if other housekeepers know that a simple method of keeping little red ants out of the refrigerator is to place on old meat bone under the refrigerator on a piece of newspaper? The ants will go to the bone rather than higher up. Then the bone can be hastily picked up and plunged into a pan of boiling water to kill the pests which cling to it. Sometimes I use a little grease as a bait instead of the bone, as ants are very fond of grease."

Answer: Festoon the canopy with white dimity, edged with a white ball fringe.

WATER IS SHORT

Chillicothe, June 23—This city faces a serious water shortage. The supply in the reservoir is low and the health department announced it was polluted with typhoid. All water for domestic use is being boiled. Meanwhile, the water company is sinking another well in the hope that a reserve of several millions of gallons will be available soon as is the case under normal conditions. The drought is blamed for the low stage of water.

ERECT DORMITORY FOR ST. JOHN SCHOOL

Contract for the construction of the new dormitory and hospital to be erected by the Building Society of Mary in Beavercreek Township, has been awarded to George B. Wetzel, of Dayton, it is announced. Plans call for the construction of a three-story structure to adjoin the Mt. St. John Normal School in Greene County between Xenia and Dayton.
The new building is expected to serve the purpose of a dormitory partly taking care of the overflow of students and also as a hospital for the institution. Nearly 200 students are at the institution all under the jurisdiction of the University of Dayton.
The total cost of the building is expected to approximate $30,000. It will be built of brick with tile roof.

Today's Talks

BIRDS

With the increasing years my love for the birds of the outdoor increases. I love them as a boy but more than ever do I love them now.
I can understand how a man like W. H. Hudson could devote a long life to the study and love of birds. There are no more lovable creatures in this world. They are clothed in beauty and as they flit here and there they give out, to all who may wish to hear of their joy of heart.

I know a great publisher who has a large estate in Florida where he has arranged a wonderful bird reserve. I recently visited a city where they have made a part of their park a section of wood just for the birds and they have stands for different spots with a picture of some bird in it and a little description so that anyone may familiarize himself with the birds that live there.

There is nothing quite so thrilling as a bird concert out in the thick wood. The echo of a bird song at early morn or dying day is enough to raise the disheartened spirit of any man. How calm, how sweet and peaceful the never ending songs of the birds that flit about our homes and cities. Every city should appropriate a sum of money to take care of the birds who come as their yearly visitors. They should be given homes and food and every encouragement to make them happy. They always give back gladly of their joy and cheer.

For years I have carried the picture in my mind of a woman in Cleveland Ohio, who feeds the doves on one of the crowded squares. When she appears they know her so well that they flock to her like a brood of chicks.

Yesterday I stood under a tree and watched a pair of wild pigeons. Their eyes shone like diamonds. Their smooth, rich throats of brown, intermixed with a touch of color, were more beautiful than any fabric.

I have no idea of what Heaven must be like, but if there are to be no birds there, then I want to sleep quietly forever tightly within the heart of this earth conscious that beautiful birds flit above me, softening the harsh notes of a very strange world with their sweet and undying song.

Feed and care for the birds about you. Treat them with affection. They will burst their hearts in appreciative music as a happy return.

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan. — "After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed. One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt anyone to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."—Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

EGGS A LA MILANAISE

Paris, June 23—Eggs a la Milanaise are prepared according to the recipe of old Pierre de Lune, who, under the reign of Henry IV, was chef de cuisine to the Duke of Montbazou.

Dissolve a little sugar in water and let one-half of it cook a few minutes. Set aside the remainder. Add the yolks of as many eggs as are necessary, beating them into the syrup, one by one, with a silver fork. One can judge the number needed by the number of guests.

To the rest of the sugar add chopped pistaches, small bits of lemon-rind, a little orange-flower water and the juice of a lemon. Pour over the egg mixture and serve.

WASHINGTON MAKES VICTORY BID LATE AND NAVY BENEFITS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. June 23—What would have happened had Washington made its bid for victory a minute earlier?

That was the question asked on every hand today by the stay-behinds of the 60,000 crowd that saw the Navy restore eastern rowing prestige by beating Washington a half length for the intercollegiate four mile championship late yesterday.

"It wouldn't be fair to say that the better crew won," declared young Dick Glendon, Navy coach. "They were both great crews."

That seemed to be the consensus among rowing men, although the latter were quick to state that the Middies rowed the better judged race and were all the more to be congratulated for winning with their punishing stroke. It seemed to be the general idea that Stroke Eddy of the Navy outgassed Stroke Ulbrickson of Washington by getting the jump on him at the third mile.

Washington's rowing in the final mile was an inspiration. It cut down the Navy by a full length but its effort came too late. At that, it was the Navy that had the bigger punches in the final furlong because it was able to save something while the Huskies were rowing their hearts out to catch the leaders.

Much of this, it was contended, could have been prevented, had Washington elected to meet the Navy's sprint near the bridge instead of trying to row the Middies down in the stretch.

POWER COMPANY TO ERECT POLE LINE

An application of the Dayton Power and Light Company through O. E. Howland, secretary of the company, for authorization to construct a pole line in Beavercreek Township, has been granted by Greene County Commissioners. The permit covers a period of twenty-five years.

The light company, which owns certain property in Beaver abutting on the east side of the Factory Road, beginning at the Xenia Pike and extending south for six miles, will construct a pole line along this road for the purpose of transmitting electric current for lighting and heating purposes.

TO ARRAIGN WOMAN ON POLICE CHARGE

A charge of disorderly conduct will probably be placed Wednesday against Mrs. Lewis Overstreet, colored, East Church Street, who engaged in a cutting and shooting affray with her husband late Sunday night.

Overstreet was fined on a charge of disorderly conduct in Police Court Monday.

The condition of Mrs. Overstreet, who was shot through the hand by her husband with a rifle after she is alleged to have cut his arm in several places with a bread knife, was much improved Tuesday, permitting her arraignment this week.

OSBORN MAN DIES

Funeral services for Samuel C. Reator 63, who died at his residence near Osborn Sunday afternoon, will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Fairfield M. E. Church. Interment will be in Fairfield. Mr. Reator had charge of the gas plant at Wilbur Wright Field.

FOREIGNERS FIRM IN FACE OF STRIKE

Hong Kong, June 23—A firm spirit of determination not to be stamped by the growing menace of the general strike was evident in the foreign colony today, as the influence of the walkout continued to grow.

With the number of strikers conservatively estimated at ten thousand and the exodus of Chinese to Canton continuing, native banks were beginning to feel the strain put upon them by heavy withdrawals by the idle coolies and clerks.

The Chinese banks did not open today and heavy guards were placed around them to prevent any attempt to force withdrawals. Volunteer foreign forces patrolled the streets. Ocean shipping lay at the piers unable to discharge or receive cargoes.

GREINER TO SPEAK AT ROTARY MEETING

Russell Greiner, Kansas City, Mo., former Xenian, past international president of Rotary, will be the guest of the Xenia Rotary Club at a meeting at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The weekly luncheon meeting was planned in the nature of a steak roast for the Boy Scouts of the city, but after this was postponed until next week on account of inclement weather, the evening dinner meeting was planned.

POSTPONE MEET

The entertainment and steak roast at the City Waterworks planned for Troops No. 1 and 2, Boy Scouts of America Tuesday night by the Rotary Club, has been postponed for a week due to rainy weather and will be held next Tuesday night. It is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. The postponement was made late Tuesday afternoon.

C. E. DELEGATES TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Canton, O., June 23—Hundreds of delegates of the Christian Endeavor Union from all parts of Ohio are here today in readiness for the opening of their fortieth annual convention of that body in the city auditorium tonight.

The delegates will be formally welcomed by Mayor Charles M. Ball on behalf of the city and on behalf of the convention committee by Rev. J. E. Youngen, of Canton. The principal address at the opening session tonight will be made by Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the old Stone Church, Cleveland. His subject will be: "Out of the Crucible."

Class of One

JASPER CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Jasper Chamberlain, singly and alone, formed the graduating class of the Brown Academy at East Kingston, N. H. He was class valedictorian and, when the roll call came, his name began and ended the affair. He read the prize essay and there was dancing, a pageant and orchestral music, all in honor of the class of one.

DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT WOULD BUY DAYTON GAS COMPANY

Columbus, O., June 23—The Dayton Power and Light Company today asked approval of the state utilities commission for proposed reorganization of its capital structure and for the purchase of the $4,595,000 Dayton Gas Company.

The application stated the power company proposes to issue 320,000 shares of no par value common stock and of this total to exchange 274,770 shares of its outstanding 30,530 shares of $100 par value common stock, on a basis of nine shares of new stock for one of outstanding stock.

The contract for purchase of the gas company calls for assumption of the outstanding obligations of the gas company including $1,314,000 of first mortgage bonds due March 1, 1930, and other liabilities of $283,000, and the payment of 42,730 shares of the new no par value common stock of the power company.

POLICE CONFER TO HALT CRIME WAVE

Chicago, June 23—A police conference from which was expected to emerge the most drastic plan yet devised for stemming Chicago's crime wave, was to be held here today, while detectives were combing the underworld for the bandits who yesterday added the fifth policeman victim within 16 days to their murder toll.

Patrolman McGovern was shot and killed as scores of pedestrians looked on and a swarm of automobiles sped by down Sheridan road. He died in an effort to protect the $4,089 receipts of the Pantheon theatre which he had been detailed to guard while they were being taken to a bank. The gangsters shot him when he attempted to draw his gun.

Three men have been arrested in connection with the killing but none have been identified, police say.

GREENE COUNTY RED CROSS SALES HIGH

Xenia is one of the twenty six cities in the state and Greene is one of the forty-five counties showing an increase in the sale of Christmas seals, last year, according to the bulletin of the Ohio Public Health Association.

Other cities showing an increase included: Ashland, Bellefontaine, Bryan, Bucyrus, Cilma, Columbus, Crestline, Cuyahoga, Falls Defiance, Findlay, Fostoria, Franklin, Greenville, Hamilton, Jackson, Kenton, Lima, Marietta, Massillon, Shelby, Sidney, Tiffin, Van Wert, Wellston.

ANNUAL BUDGET WILL BE DELAYED

Work on the 1925 budget for Greene County will be delayed nearly seven weeks this year under the provisions of a new law enacted by the last General Assembly, according to officials of the County Auditor's office.

The annual budget is usually made out the first day of June each year but can not be worked up until July 20 this year, it is said. No tax rate can be fixed until the budget is made.

Elyria, June 23-Charged with contributing to the delinquency of Lorain girls, John Reznik, Stanley Muskovich and Joe Tomba, all of Lorain, were each fined $25 and sentenced to ten days in jail.

SENATOR FESS AND DARLINGTON ARE ON LEGION COMMITTEE

United States Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, and C. L. Darlington, Xenia attorney, past commander of the American Legion, department of Ohio, are among the leading men and women in every phase of the business, financial, industrial, civic and social life of Ohio who have accepted membership on the state committee of the American Legion Endowment Fund campaign for disabled veterans and World War orphans it has been announced at Columbus.

Headed by Governor A. V. Donahay, chairman, the personnel includes senators, congressmen, judges, physicians, military leaders, clergymen and educators. Almost every section of Ohio is represented on the committee.

On this committee will rest a large part of the responsibility for Ohio's going "over the top" in the campaign now under way according to Governor Donahay under whose signature invitations to serve were sent out. Thirty-five are included in the list of names at present comprising the committee. Additions will be made later it was stated.

The committee as so far named is composed of the following: Joseph T. Tracy, Columbus, auditor of state; S. D. Fess and Frank B. Willis, United States senators; Robert E. Vinson, Cleveland, president of Western Reserve University; Steve J. Lesser, Elyria, president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles; Frank J. Merrick, Cleveland, Grand Chef de Gare, society of Forty-Homes and Eight Chevaux, Cleveland; Brigadier General S. B. Stanberry, formerly of the 37th division, United States Army, Cincinnati; Charles L. Darlington, past commander of the American Legion, department of Ohio, Xenia; J. R. McQuigg, banker and military man, Cleveland; John W. Hoffman, president of Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware; William Cooper Proctor, manufacturer, Cincinnati; Frank Hunter, Grand Knight, Knights of Columbus, Columbus; W. L. Dauby, Cleveland; Guy C. Heiner, Canton; Major E. Campbell, Bellefontaine; Gilbert Bettman, past department commander of the Legion, Rabbi Joseph S. Kornfeld, Columbus; Lyman Spitzer, Toledo; Judge Smith Hickel, Cincinnati; L. A. Ault, Cincinnati; Mrs. Carl H. Hanna, Cleveland; Mrs. Walter L. Toby, Hamilton; Mrs. Austin C. Brandt, Canton; Mrs. Lowell P. Hobart, past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Millford; Judge Mary B. Grossman, Cleveland; Mrs. Julia B. Foraker, Cincinnati; Frederick O. Hicks, president of the University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati; Mrs. M. H. Bentley, Cincinnati; Col. Ralph B. Cole, Findlay; Col. F. S. Van Gorder, Warren; Harold S. Reynolds, Toledo; Colonel F. C. PRELIMINARY WORK ON RE-APPRAISAL TO START IN AUGUST

County Auditor R. O. Wead declared Monday that preliminary work such as obtaining data and making forms, preparatory to making a county-wide re-appraisal of real estate, will probably be begun in August this year. A new law governing re-appraisal in Ohio goes into effect late in July.

Auditor Wead said however, that an application for an extension of time would probably be laid with the state tax commission in order to begin actual field work in 1926 and get the values on the 1925 tax duplicate.

Farm Bureau officials, citizens, councils of municipalities, trustees of townships and school boards will be consulted before an appraisal is made, it is announced. There has been no appraisal of real estate in Greene County for nearly fifteen years. The last appraisal was made in 1910.

Auditor Wead does not expect an enormous increase or decrease in value but there will be quite a readjustment, he said. Many 1910 values will be less while others will be higher, he pointed out.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER XENIA IS WINNER OF BEAUTY CONTEST

Miss Mary Givens Davis, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Davis, Galesburg, Ill., was selected as "Miss Galesburg" in the final judging of a city-wide beauty contest last week.

Mr. Davis is a former Xenian and the announcement of his daughter's good fortune was received by Harry Oglesbee, south of Xenia.

Miss Davis received a check for $50 and a trip to Chicago which will include a room with bath at the Hotel Flanders, footman, chauffeur and a limousine placed at her disposal, all without expense to her or her chaperone. Her mother will accompany her on the trip.

A large number of Galesburg beauties were entered in the contest. The state winner will receive a $1,000 diamond, $500 in cash and a six months contract in the movies.

Miss Davis was born in Toledo, O., and, when three months old her parents took her to Galesburg where, after finishing high school she entered St. Joseph's Academy, where she is a senior.

Her father is prominent in C. B. and Q. railroad circles and her grandfather is A. J. Ryden, of Abingdon, one of the best known cattle and stock judges in this part of the country, having held offices in the farm bureau many times.

Miss Davis has coal black hair, brown eyes and well proportioned features. She is slightly more than five and one half feet tall and is well known throughout the younger folks of Galesburg.

COMPANY AGAINST C. A. RILEY IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

The board of trustees now consists of two veterans of the Spanish-American war; one son of a veteran; a representative from the Women's Relief Corps and two World War veterans. No objection is raised to the present personnel of the board, declared W. J. Schultz, Cincinnati, a member of the committee, but the organization is of the opinion that the Grand Army should be represented.

SHEPHERD IS EXPECTED TO TAKE STAND COOLIDGE ASKS FOR "RELENTLESS" ECONOMY

Reduction, He Says
In Address

Washington, June 23.—Enjoined by President Coolidge to prosecute a campaign of relentless economy that the next congress may reduce the tax burden of the American people, government heads today began preparation of the expense estimates for the two years beginning June 30.

The president, addressing the semi-annual business meeting of department heads last night, limited expenditures in this period to approximately $6,750,000,000 exclusive of postal costs.

For the first year government cost will be about $3,375,000,000, appropriation for which has already been made. The president asked his department chiefs to keep within
for the year beginning June 30, 1926 to $3,080,000,000.

The way has been paved for further tax reduction," President Coolidge declared. "This I will recommend to congress in the next budget."

At the business gathering the president said that he objective sought is "not merely a cutting down of public expenditures."

"This is only a means," he added.
"Tax reduction is the end."

The president outlined economies accomplished during the four years of budget control, pointing out that the public debt has been decreased $3,426,000,000 and annual expenses cut $2,081,000,000.

"This is an accomplishment which justifies the abiding faith of the people in our form of representative government," the president said. "The history of public affairs will hardly show a parallel case of retrenchment in the cost of government. Nor will history show a more worthy motive."

The president estimated he surplus June 30 at $200,000,000 and that for the next fiscal year at $290,000,- 000. He pointed out that economy in government and tax reduction are inseparable. The president anticipates that tax reduction will be followed by a stimulation of business.

BODY OF SENATOR WILL LIE IN STATE

Washington, June 23.—The body of Senator Edwin F. Ladd, of North Dakota, who died yesterday at the Church Home and Infirmary in Baltimore, will be brought to Washington today. It will arrive at Union Station at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, following which it will lie in state today and tomorrow at an undertaking establishment.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at the Undertaking parlors after which the body will be become to a vault until Mrs. Ladd, who is seriously affected by her husband's death, is able to make the trip to North Dakota. The senator will later be buried in his adopted state.

COMPENSATION FOR ILL CATTLE RAISED

Columbus, O., June 23.—Maximum compensation for "grade" cattle found infected with tuberculosis and destroyed under the new area plan for eradication of bovine tuberculosis has been increased from $40 to $80, under new rules for indemnification of owners, State Agriculture Director Trux announced today.

Maximum compensation for destroyed pure bred was continued at $80. Recommendations were made by the state live stock board.

COOLIDGE WILL VACATION WITH GOLF OR TENNIS

Presidential Party Leaves On Special Train for Swamp-
scott—Sport Equipment Left at Home—Mayflower
Has Arrived at Summer "White House"

Washington, June 23.—President Coolidge will leave Washington, this afternoon for a two months vacation on the North Shore of Massachusetts.

Golf bags and tennis rackets will be conspicuous by their absence insofar as the presidential baggage is concerned. Mr.
Coolidge accepted the offer of a "summer white house" at Swampscott from his old friend, Frank W. Stearns, with the sole idea of getting away from official Washington to a spot where he could enjoy a complete rest, and the accepted forms of summer recreation do not appeal to the president as restful.

The presidential train—and it is again a "special"—will pull out of the local terminal a few minutes after one o'clock this afternoon. It is due to reach Salem, Mass., early tomorrow morning, from whence a four mile automobile trip will be made to Swampscott and "White Court," the Coolidge summer residence.

Accompanying the president and Mrs. Coolidge will be Secretary to the President, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sanders; Col. S. A. Cheney, military aid; Major J. F. Coupal, physician; the White House secret service corps and eleven newspapermen and two photographers. The journey to New England will be made aboard a Pennsylvania railroad special composed of the president's car, a press car, an observation car, a dining car and a baggage car.

The president is anxious to be away from the capital while the White House is undergoing its annual repairs. Immediately upon his departure, workmen will start extensive renovation and re-furnishing.

The principal work to be done includes reconstruction of the elevator, installation of a new vacuum cleaning system and general refurbishing of the draperies and hangings. It is estimated that the entire $50,000 appropriation allotted by congress, will be utilized in the work. The now-famous White House roof, which has been reported to every congress for the past five years as "unsafe and dangerous," will not be touched, owing to the failure of the last congress to make an appropriation.

Swampscott, Mass., June 23.—Carrying the domestic personnel of the summer white house, the presidential yacht Mayflower arrived off here today.

The Mayflower was met off Boston Light by a navy tug, which accompanied her into port and aided in the transfer of the baggage from the Mayflower.

President Coolidge and his official

ATTEMPTED SLAYER OF KING BORIS DIES RESISTING CAPTORS

Would-Be Assassinator Is Slain
By Soldiers—Find Ring
Taken From King

Sofia, June 23.—The bandit leader
Bonass, who sought the life of King Boris, of Bulgaria, was killed today resisting soldiers who cornered him and his band in the mountains. Bonass followers were captured, after two of them had been wounded.

On Bonass's body was found a ring which had been taken from King Boris himself and the watch which belonged to his adjutant, who was slain in the attack on the king.

Boris escaped the assassins, who were believed at the time to have acted in conjunction with a widespread communist-agrarian plot, by seizing the wheel of his automobile and driving it at breakneck speed away from the scene of the attack.

The king was attacked on a country road while returning to Sofia.
The same afternoon General Georgehiev, leader of the government party, was slain in Sofia. At Georgehiev's funeral, the Sveti Kral cathedral was bombed and upwards of 160 lives were lost.

FRENCH AND SPANISH FORM ENTENTE TO BRING ABOUT NAVAL BLOCKADE OF RIFFS

will operate against the Rifis were made public today in the directory's communiqué announcing the signing of the pact last night by General Jordana and Yaguire Carcer, representing Spain and Ambassador Rocca and M. Sorbier for France.

In the blockade of the Moroccan coast, the warships of both nations will act, reserving the right of completely independent action, working toward the same end. All ports except those designed as open for trade, under the agreements, may enter the ports of Oran and El Mouris in French North Africa and French ships may receive supplies or put in for repairs at Algiers and Almeria, on the southern coast of Spain.

LOWER EXPENSES IS GOAL OF TRAVELING MEN AT CONVENTION

Organization Will Elect Officers
At Council Meeting in Columbus

Columbus, June 23.—Plans for obtaining reduction in railroad fare and lower hotel rates for traveling men are scheduled to be considered at the sessions of the Grand Council, United Commercial Travelers, opening here today. Officers for the coming year also will be elected.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is being urged by representatives of the U. C. T. to order reductions in rates on railroad trips for traveling salesmen. The commission has had this proposal under consideration during the past three years. After the commission complied with the request an injunction prevented the decrease from becoming effective. Later the commission handed down an adverse ruling. Members of the U. C. T., it was stated, favor transferring their activities in this direction from the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission to congress.

For years, national officials of the U. C. T. here declared, they have been endeavoring to reach an agreement with hotel proprietors and managers providing for cheaper rates and better accommodations for traveling salesmen. Recommendations dealing with this situation are expected to be submitted to the grand council by a committee.

There are about 260 members of the grand council, which is the legislative body of the U. C. T.

Observing the precedent of promoting officials to the next higher office,
the grand council will select Fred L.
Wright of Milwaukee, Wis., to succeed W. D. Mowry of Kansas City, Kan., now supreme counselor.

The convention program provides for a banquet on the night of June 24 and addresses by Governor Dona-hey of Ohio, and Congressman M. O.
McLaughlin of Nebraska, who led the U. C. T.'s fight in Washington against the Pullman surcharges. McLaughlin's address is to deal with this subject.

It is expected the grand council sessions will continue about three days.

WARNS WOMEN

Columbus, O., June 23.—Warning was issued today by State Agriculture Director Trux to housewives to beware of coffee adulterated with chickory, cereals and other foreign substances, when sold without identifying labels. Such adulterated coffee have been found on sale at prevailing high prices, he said.

THRONGS IN OMAHA APPLAUD AT PARADE OF DISABLED VETS

Blind and Crippled Ex-
Service Men March at
D. A. V. Meet

Omaha, Neb., June 23.—Omaha experienced a war time thrill today.

The occasion was the annual parade in connection with the fifth convention of the Disabled American Veterans. Since the battle-scarred veterans marched through the streets of Salt Lake City last year, more than 4,000 of their comrades have died of disabilities incurred in the World War.

With Major General George B. Duncan acting as marshal, and led by large detachments of various branches of the Regular Army followed by the combined civil organizations of Omaha acting as an escort, the disabled ex-service men marched through cheering throngs. The line of march was held to a length of one mile as a result of the specific request of the national officers of the organization, who learned at Minneapolis two years ago and at Salt Lake City last year that the disabled men fall from exhaustion when attempting long parades.

WANT LAW CHANGED

From hospitals where they are undergoing treatment, from schools where by training they are attempting to overcome their vocational handicaps resulting from their physical ailments, and from other institutions, these men are in Omaha today to voice the views of their comrades, who desire certain changes in the law to aid in solving the vast problem of the war's disabled.

Today they walked with surprising military precision despite the scars they will carry to their graves, Frank J. Irwin, national commander, with a Distinguished Service Cross and other emblems on his uniform, headed the impressive fourteen divisions of the disabled.

In their accustomed position of honor came the blind group, in charge of Michael Aaronson, of Cincinnati; George Calvert, of Syracuse, and Michael Insulbush, three Disabled American Veterans officials, who, like the section that followed them, were stricken blind in shell fire. The blind men were individually led by small school children of Omaha and the crowd that greeted their appearance served to stimulate them along the line of march.

CRIPPLES CHEERED

Trailing the blind came the amputation cases—men whose limbs were left on the fields of France. While at times they wavered, their efforts to keep their lines straight were cheered by the crowds.

Carrying seven wounds and wearing not only the Congressional Medal of Honor voted by congress as America's highest honor for valor, but also the decorations of six other nations, Richard W. O'Neill of the Rainbow Division and past national sergeant-at-arms of the Disabled American Veterans, had charge of the Medal of Honor section.

In charge of their respective national executive committees of the Disabled American Veterans the delegates tramped along in fourteen divisions drawn from the sections of the country in which their chapters are located.

No colors were carried by the divisions, for these were massed at the front—the national standards to the right and the organization colors to the left—and extended for more than a city block, while they passed through two lines of humanity, who stood at respectful attention.

Practically every civic group in Omaha was represented by different sections as the rear escort.

Committee has been meeting and tomorrow the whole convention settles down to business sessions, during which will be discussed relations with the Veterans' Bureau and the legislative program which will be presented to Congress at the next session.

CHAMBERS PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN CASE

New York, June 23.—A plea of "not guilty" was entered today by Talbot W. Chambers when he appeared before Justice Ford in the supreme court charged with a statutory crime as an outcome of his testimony in the divorce suit of Thomas H. Symington, of New York, Baltimore and Rochester, millionaire dealer in railroad supplies.

Justice Ford set the hearing of the charge against Chambers for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The arrest of Chambers was made at the request of Max D. Steuer, counsel for Mrs. Symington, defendant in the divorce action. Chambers testified several days ago to acts which he said had taken place in his own and Mrs. Symington's apartment.

OBJECTS TO BASEBALL

Bucyrus, June 23.—Daniel Aumiller, who presented a deed to a 30-acre tract of land, adjacent to this city, to city council, for use as a park, objects to Sunday baseball being played at the proposed park. Aumiller termed Sunday baseball a "Sunday desecration." It is expected council will reject the proffered deed.

LA FOLLETTE NAME IN RING FOR U. S. SENATE CAMPAIGN

Mrs. LaFollette or Robert Jr., Will Make Race for Seat
Made Vacant by Death of Senator—Progressives Make Program.

Madison, Wis., June 23.—A member of the LaFollette family, either the widow or the oldest son, Robert Jr., will make the race for the U. S. senate seat, made vacant by the death of Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

This was the definite program announced by national and state progressive leaders here today, for holding together harmoniously and unitedly the great political organization built by the dead senator.

The ominous war clouds that floated low over the Wisconsin political horizon, have lifted, and the progressives after a series of quiet conferences, have ironed out threatening disrupting differences and agreed to present a solid front in attempting to send a LaFollette again to the senate.

Aspiring state officers, who had cast eyes toward Washington were told bluntly that they could not expect the support of senate progressives, who feel that, for political reasons, either Mrs. LaFollette or "Young Bob" as he is called, here, should make the race.

The warning was sounded by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, a LaFollette lieutenant in the senate,
who issued a statement today declaring that "petty jealousies and personal ambitions must be forgotten."
It was particularly directed at the officials who have quietly let drop the hint that they would not be adverse to contesting for the seat.

DARROW PLANNING BATTLE LINES FOR EVOLUTION TRIAL

Criminal Lawyer On Scene Of Conflict—Will Be New Case
For Him

Dayton, Tennessee, June 23.—Like all great generals, Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago lawyer, is on the scene of conflict beforehand, laying plans and mapping out battle lines for what he believes will be the greatest legal fight of his career.

This trial of Prof. John T. Scopes, charged with teaching evolution in violation of the Tennessee law is a new kind of legal battle for Darrow.
Heretofore he has fought for the lives of accused criminals, but in the Scopes trial, as he expresses it, he is going to fight for his "own liberty and the liberty and constitutional rights" of his fellowmen.

Darrow is losing no time in familiarizing himself with the battlefields over which he will wage his greatest conflict. He is studying the customs and mannerisms of the people; he is acquainting himself with the background of the whole case—talking with Scopes' friends and reviewing the setting where originated the idea that has developed into a nationwide fight between evolution and fundamentalism.

PROPOSES DEBATE

Columbus, O., June 23.—Governor
Donahay has been invited by John A.
Clue, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Bar association, to debate with Attorney General Crabbe the subject
of his executive vetoes at the annual meeting of the association at Cedar Point, July 10, it was announced here
today.

Crabbe said he will accept the invitation.

Against His Wishes,
Attorneys Claim

Chicago, June 23.—The Shepherd McClintock case today awaited its closing thrill.

This was to be provided, according to all indications by the appearance on the witness stand of William D. Shepherd, to tell for the first time under oath, his own story of the death of William Nelson McClintock, which made him a millionaire and which brought against him the state's indictment charging murder.

He was not to be a willing witness, however, according to information which his attorneys volunteered with great readiness. On the contrary they declared, he was taking the stand only as a result of their continued argument against his own wishes and better judgment.

His wife, also, according to the attorneys, is opposed to his testifying, holding that his confinement in jail has rendered him extremely nervous, a condition which she fears may react to his disadvantage under the searing cross examination of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Despite all this, however, and despite the fact that it is admitted by all the courtroom wise, that Shepherd's appearance can do little to bolster up the defense case, Shepherd's counsel for reasons which have not been made exactly clear have determined that he shall subject himself to Crowe's grilling.
This, it is expected, will delve into his past life for Crowe already has declared he would attempt to show Shepherd as a life long ne'er do well, a parasite living on friends of wealth to whom he annexed himself.

A few minor witnesses will precede Shepherd on the stand but their testimony will occupy but little time and it is expected the defense will be able to rest its case at the conclusion of the defendant's testimony today.

Closing arguments probably will consume two days and the case probably will be given to the jury by Friday.

JOSEPHSON TRIAL ON IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, June 23.—Trial of Louis
W. Josephson, Columbus attorney, on a charge of embezzlement of $105,000 while vice president of the Ohio Industrial Endowment Company, was to be continued today before Judge Kinkead in Franklin county common pleas court here.

County Prosecutor King seeks to prove that Josephson retained commission as high as 40 per cent in stock sales, the legal commission permitted under the blue sky law being 15 per cent.

FRENCH WILL LEAVE RUHR VALLEY SOON

Paris, June 23.—Evacuation of the Ruhr valley of Germany by French troops will begin within a few days.
Decisive action for this step so long urged by Germany, was taken today when the cabinet unanimously adopted the plan submitted by Premier Painleve and former Minister Briand, which called for the "total evacuation of the Ruhr," in conformity with the London agreement.

Columbus, O., June 23.—The murder of J. W. Prime, former city manager and postmaster at Ashtabula, and later a real estate operator, near Wildwood, Fla., May 28, will be investigated and every effort made to bring the guilty party to justice, Governor John W. Martin, of Florida, today informed Governor Donahay.

Governor Donahay, on June 11, wrote Governor Martin requesting an investigation, and in his letter he said he had been informed by investigators that Prime had been shot by Dr. R. E. Watts, South Jacksonville, Fla.

Complete before the noon recess.
Kirby's attorneys predicted a quick verdict of acquittal. The state prosecutors believed they had made out a case against the man they held responsible for the collapse of the giant mortgage concern in the winter of 1922.

This is Kirby's second trial on charges growing out of the financial transactions of the concern. Previously he was acquitted of a charge of issuing a false financial statement.

Charges are pending against him in federal court of using the mails to defraud and indictments were returned recently in Delaware county, upon practically the same facts as have formed the basis of the trials here.

Last Argument Given By State
Tuesday—Defense Predicting Acquittal

Cleveland, June 23.—Josiah Kirby, founder, and former head of the Cleveland Discount Company, will probably know today whether or not the jury of six men and six women in Judge
Clue, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Bar association, to debate with Attorney General Crabbe the subject
of his executive vetoes at the annual meeting of the association at Cedar Point, July 10, it was announced here
today.

FORGERS DIDN'T FLOURISH WHEN COWS WERE CASH

ANCIENT Rome knew neither forger nor counterfeit. When the village tailor set a price of two cows, two sheep and one spring lamb for the new spring suit of inlaid armor, there was no chance to get by with a bad check. The tailor didn't know anything about checks. There was nothing to do but drive in your three honest to goodness cows and take your change in sheep, or lambs, or any other small animals the tailor might have in the till.

Money, says the dictionary, is "any material that by agreement serves as a common medium of exchange and measure of value in trade." And in ages gone by, mankind has agreed upon a variety of currencies that could never be adapted to present day commerce. But most of the ancient mediums of exchange possessed at least one distinct virtue—they offered no employment for the forger, the check raiser or the counterfeit.

Cave Man's Currency
In earth's early dawn our cave man ancestor traded his surplus of animal skins for a new stone hatchet. A few centuries later he traded those skins for bear claw necklaces and shell anklets with little to bedeck his mate. And so greatly prized did these primitive adornments become that they in turn assumed the importance and dignity of currency.

It was the advent of metals that first suggested to mankind the possibility of a medium of exchange that could be easily transported and would not possess the perishable qualities attaching to hides, oxen, grain and olive oil.

China, as might be expected, was one of the very first of the early civilizations to develop the use of metals as currency, using both copper and iron. Rome, which first used copper as a basis of its coinage, adopted silver in 269 as a result of the example of Greece.

In medieval European currencies, silver was the principal standard, but gold gradually assumed the ascendancy, and today it is pre-eminent throughout civilization.

Early American Exchange
America has seen every stage of the development of exchange. Although the earliest settlers had long known coin in their native lands, in the new world commodities were practically the only cash. They exchanged bright beads, knives, hatchets and iron pots for the grain, tobacco and furs of the Indians. A little later, in trade among themselves and with the mother country, they adopted leaf tobacco as a standard of value.

One of the interesting historical documents of the Colonial period is an enactment of the Virginia Assembly, authorizing the purchase of the original site of the city of Norfolk for "ten thousand pounds of good, merchantable tobacco and casks." Cows and hides and grain and tobacco were honest coin. They represented human toil. They might be the subject of theft, but their value in exchange was never rendered unstable by forgery or counterfeit.

Evolution of Forger

The evolution of the forger and check raiser of today goes back only to the early days of the coining of precious metals. The early gold coins, when they were started on their long journey through commerce, conformed to a certain standard of weight. In passing through many hands, however, they became worn to a greater or less degree, still holding their original value. Those early coins had no milled edge, so the "coin-clipper" came into being. This early parasite made a practice of cutting off or wearing away a portion of the coin around the edges, and returning

ing the reduced coin to circulation. Honest intellects which in a later day probably would have interested themselves in check protecting devices, defeated the "clipper" by developing the milled edge. Whereupon the "clipper" immediately became a "sweater"—the process of "sweating" consisting of shaking a lot of coins in a bag until they were considerably worn down, the crook getting for his pains a quantity of metal dust.

The Coin "Pluggers" Game

It was the same school of crooks, in all probability, who developed the technique of punching holes in coins, plugging the space with a cheaper metal and hammering over the surfaces so that the substitution would not be discovered. Instances have also been known of gold coins sawed in two, the gold dug out of the inside and the cavity filled with lead. Commercial paper made valuable by the signatures of individuals, banks or firms ushered in the millennium of the commercial crook, however. It was about 1695 that the Bank of England first issued a crude bank note in denominations of not less than five pounds. This pioneer institution was not long in lowering the amounts to one and two pounds, to the extreme delight of a large class of both amateur and professional crooks, and forgery grew apace. By 1760 the crime of forgery was rampant throughout England, and historians have recorded that by the end of the eighteenth century as many as 352 persons were convicted in a year of raising and forging Bank of England notes. The prisons were literally filled to overflowing with others awaiting trial for their share in this ridiculously easy fraud.

Drastic Forgery Penalties

The temptation for the forger was gradually lessened by the adoption of more intricate engraved designs in bank notes. But the commercial crook did not cease operations. He found it comparatively easy to take a one-pound note and increase the figures to several times that amount. This offense had become so serious in England by 1772 that some most drastic legislation was enacted, making the tampering with bank notes an offense punishable by death "without benefit of clergy."

Intricate designs, silk thread paper and other protective measures have gradually reduced the altering and counterfeiting of bank notes and paper money to a very low ratio, but there are still clever crooks who from time to time manage to peel a figure from a $5 bill, and place it over the figure "1" on a dollar note.

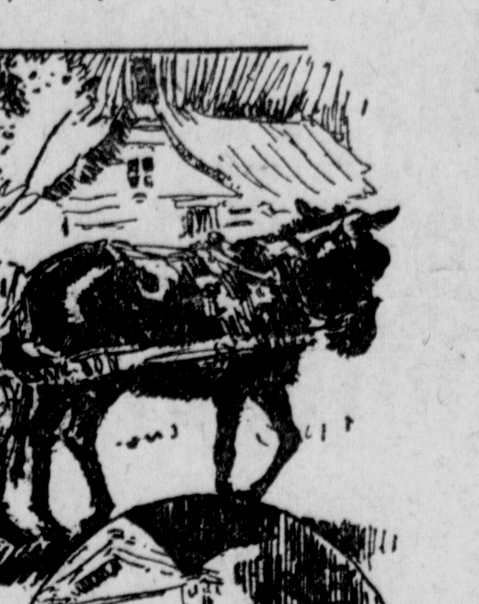

Enter the Draft
Money really began to have flexibility just before the beginning of the nineteenth century, when the bank "draft" was introduced into trade. But this introduction was also an open invitation to the forger and the "scratcher," as the expert penman who altered original drafts came to be known. From the year 1800, the word "cheque" became synonymous with "draft" as referring to a written order on a banker, and ultimately acquired its present meaning. But the cheque ushered in the golden age of the forger and he was quick to reap his rich harvest.

Truly, money had attained the long desired flexibility, but this flexibility brought with it a new menace that threatened for a time to destroy the usefulness of this new-found commercial wonder. Just as the developers of the milled edge checkmated the "clipper," so ingenious inventors set themselves to find a way out of a condition that became so serious that banks were losing an enormous revenue through fear of general distribution of drafts.

Protective Devices Invented
Protective devices which punched the amount of the instrument out of the paper were employed. Tinted "safety" paper was developed. "Letters of advice," in which banks advised their correspondents daily of all drafts issued against the correspondent were employed. But the master crook kept right at it. He found that he could fill the punch holes and raise the amount easily. With chemicals he washed off the tint on the safety paper whenever desired, raised the amount of the check or draft, and restored the tint. He developed easy methods of defeating the "letter of advice."

A hogshead of tobacco was the standard of value with the early American colonists.

Check Protection Essential

Commenting upon the loss of $100,000,000 annually by American business through forgeries and embezzlements, the report expressed the obligation of the business man to protect himself against such losses in the following language:

"A large measure of protection can be secured against the alteration of checks and bills by giving attention to the style and form of the instruments. The use of safety paper and the various devices that safeguard against alterations is inexpensive and necessary. The individual or business house that fails to use these safeguards is likely, in the event of losses, to fail to establish the fact that ordinary precautions have been taken against alteration—often important when a bank overpays a check by reason of fraudulent alteration."

The crime of forgery can be prevented today. The personal currency created by the writer of a check can be as carefully safeguarded as a United States Treasury note. Mechanical devices for shredding the amount of the instrument in words in two colors have been developed to a high degree. Safety paper has also been developed to an extent undreamed of a few years ago. Forgery insurance affords still further safeguard. Business concerns all over the world are taking cognizance of the toll exacted by the forger, and are combining the devices at their disposal for combating commercial fraud. But the forger will continue to flourish until every check issued is surrounded with safeguards the forger cannot combat.

Prison Protects Checks

An interesting instance of the development of check protection is furnished by the check that has been adopted by Sing Sing Prison, at Ossining, N. Y. Sing Sing knows the forger and his ways. Within those grim walls many pen artists are "doing a stretch" for tampering with personal currency. So Sing Sing, in addition to the use of mechanical devices for impressing the amount indelibly into the paper, is using a safety paper which does queer things when ink eradicator is applied.

The modern business man creates currency at his desk by signing checks.

Chemicals remove the surface tint. But in its place, through chemical reaction, there appears in thickly clustered repetition, the word "VOID," to confound and defeat the forger.

It's a far cry from the day when cows were currency. And the old adage of "set a thief to catch a thief" has gone into the discard. It is the honest man, the chemist, the inventor and the scientist who are protecting the currency of today.

ILLNESS MAY KEEP MCGRAW AND GIANTS APART AT CRUCIAL TIME IN LEAGUE RACE

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, June 23—It was intimated rather broadly today that the New York Giants, already cut down to the size of their field by injuries and a scandalous western trip, may be forced to part intimate company with John McGraw for the remainder of the 1925 season.

McGraw, convalescent from a rather serious illness, has not recovered his health with a celerity his physician has deemed necessary and the tip now is that he will do his master-minding at a point well removed from the playing bench.

Nothing official has been vouchsafed about the situation. In fact the matter has been pretty thoroughly "shushed."

But the present understanding, nevertheless, is that Hughie Jennings will continue to take active charge of the club and John McGraw will take active charge of himself.

It is hardly the time McGraw himself would select for a temporary retirement. The Giants need him as the plaster needs the Paris for the Pirates, giving the greatest exhibition of sustained hitting in the history of all baseball, are coming with the speed of a prairie fire.

They are only a game and a half back today and a continuance of their respective speeds soon will see the two clubs exchanging positions. Everything has gone to the falsetto in the Giant camp where a bit more than a month ago all was pink and pretty.

Injuries to Frisch, Groh, Lindstrom, Kelly, Terry and Scott followed in rapid succession, and at one time,

one might find difficulty in recognizing the Giants with a college boy on third base and a spavined catcher, twelve years in the minor leagues, playing first base.

Scott, one of three pitchers who have kept the club in front, was out for several days after a collision with Grimm at Chicago. Another, Bentley, was beaten several times by one run and the third proceeded to get himself suspended for conduct unbecoming a ball player, whatever that may be. The latter was Virgil Barnes, who claimed he sprained a careless ankle in a Pittsburgh bath tub. McGraw, however, pointed out that all Pittsburgh bath tubs are equipped with sandpaper and sent the young man home. That didn't do the club any particular good, either.

Finally, we have exhibit "A" in the person of Ross Young, a normal .340 hitter. He is stepping blithely along at about .225, and can't seem to accelerate the pace. That is an absurd performance for a man like Young in these days of the lively ball. All in all, it is not remarkable that the Giants have won only eight games in the last seventeen played.

XENIA MERCHANTS BEAT COLLEGIANS WITH EARLY LEAD

The Xenia Merchants won their seventh straight victory Sunday afternoon, at Dickinson Park by defeating the Midway Collegians 11 to 6 in a slug fest.

The Merchants wasted no time in piling up a big lead. The visiting pitcher proved no puzzle and was knocked out in the initial frame when the locals pushed six runs across the plate. Porter hit for the circuit in this inning.

Lewis hurled a masterful game for the Merchants permitting but one run in the first eight frames. He eased up in the ninth and the Collegians tallied five times.

A sensational catch by Stanhope in right field that robbed a Collegian batter of what looked to be a home run, featured the game.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 431 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend.'"

FREE BOOKLET

Write Bradfield Regulator Co., B-A 15, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet (sent in plain envelope) containing valuable information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all good drug stores. Full directions for using it will be found with each bottle. Begin now and you will realize the wisdom of doing so as the weeks roll by!

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

MODISH MITZI—Shoes An Important Matter This Summer By JAY V. JAY

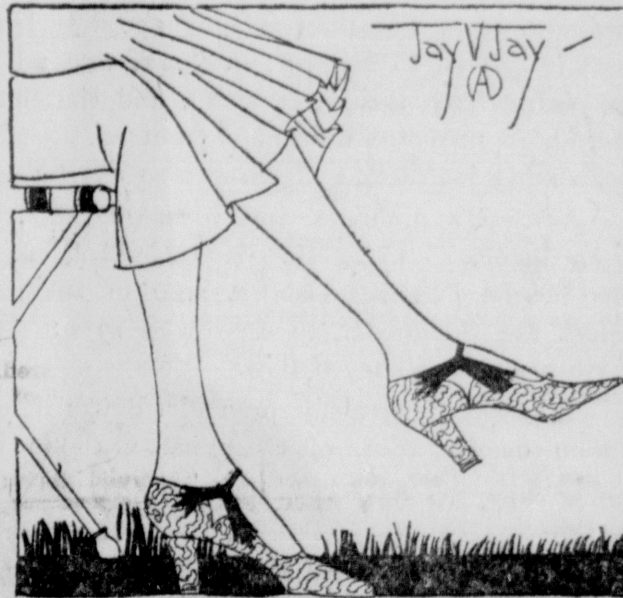

After all, reflects Mitzi, Cinderella's slipper was only of plain glass. The summer fashions in footwear are much more interesting. These, for instance, are of white kidskin trimmed with loops and bindings of black kid.

A very special kind of lacing mark these out from the shoes of past summers. They are of white kidskin with trimmings of tan calf and have comfortably low heels—good for more active sports than reading.

What we have to consider here, of course, is the shoe. It is of white kid and the little dots are perforations—this craze for fresh air has gone so far—now you must let your feet breathe through perforated vamps!

There are dozens of odd leathers used for summer slippers. Mitzi chose these, nominally of lizard skin, because she says every time she looks at them she can be glad another lizard bit the dust. She'll hunt for snake skin ones next.

There is only ONE Duco — DU PONT Duco

DUCO is a specific product created and manufactured only by du Pont. It is applied to automobiles by 23 manufacturers and by authorized DUCO Refinishers. DUCO is not a paint nor a varnish. It is a finish of velvety smoothness and astonishing durability.

Naturally, a product with such remarkable qualities and immediate acceptance by the public is widely imitated. But the fundamental behind DUCO never can be imitated—for the accumulated experience of du Pont chemical engineers stands alone.

... and only one way to have it applied correctly

That is by taking your car to an Authorized Duco Refinishing Station—qualified by special training to apply DUCO, using the complete du Pont Duco System from the bare metal up. Look for the sign. Then, and only then can you be sure that you have — DUCO!

EGOTISM OF IGNORANCE

MR BRYAN declares that the Tennessee prosecution of the young biology teacher will be the most important case ever tried in the United States.

Utterly ridiculous! Its publicity opportunities in relation to Mr. Bryan personally have confused that gentleman's better judgment—if he possesses such a thing as a better judgment.

The Tennessee law distinguishes an effort to establish fundamentalism as the religion of that state. The validity or the untenability of the theory of evolution, in this connection, is of no importance whatsoever. This discussion will be forced, of course, but such discussion should not be permitted. It is not germane to the issue. The question is: Can a state of this Union establish an official religion? Tennessee has made the attempt to do this. Her statute is plain. Under it young Mr. Scopes is guilty. The Court will have to declare him to be guilty. That is all there is to it, except—and here is the "important" part of the matter, a something that Mr. Bryan did not have in contemplation at all—the case will go to the one proper final tribunal for determination of the legal principles involved.

What the Supreme Court of the United States will do in the matter easily may be predicted.

With reference to evolution—of which Mr. Bryan appears to know less than nothing—he may learn at Dayton that it is vital to biology; that man and all other animals ascending from the lower order, and that biologists never contended man was descended from the ape, but that there are simply indications of a common ancestry.

With his monkeys and cocoanuts, Mr. Bryan is far from home, so to speak. He should heed the advice of Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, who in the current Forum refers the Commoner to Job, who says: "Speak to the earth and it shall teach thee."

It might further enlighten Mr. Bryan if he should read Canon de Loriot, of the great Catholic University of Louvain, who says in his "Darwinism and Catholic Thought":

"It is no exaggeration to say that, in showing us a creation more grandiose than we had ever suspected it, Charles Darwin completed the work of Isaac Newton, because, for all those whose ears are not incapable of hearing, Darwin was the interpreter of the organic world, just as Newton was the voice from heaven come to tell us of the glory of the Creator, and to proclaim that the universe is a work truly worthy of His hand."

Or Mr. Bryan might prayerfully consider these words of the eminent Hebrew, Rabbi Dr. Silverman, who declared in a recent address: "Evolution, I believe, is as much a law of God as air, gravitation, the law of heat, light, electricity and Einstein's law of relativity. If religion cannot stand the truth, then religion must fall."

Mr. Bryan might take to heart the comparison of a prominent Methodist minister, who recently averred: Bryan is like an elephant in a china shop."

FESS.

U. S. SENATOR S. D. FESS, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, is so close to the administration at Washington that his utterances on the foreign situation at the Norse celebration in Minneapolis, were interpreted by most as the actual opinions of the Coolidge regime.

During his speech, Fess declared France faces economic ruin and is furnishing an obstacle to the rehabilitation of Europe by its attitude of "debt repudiation," which indicates that the government may use its sternest pressure to bring about a remedy for a situation it considers so serious.

Senator Fess said the German situation created by the election of Hindenburg may be set at rest by a declaration from the German president himself that he will oppose restoration of a monarchy in that country. Fess is known to be deep in the counsels of his party at Washington as well as in close touch with the President himself, and his words in Minneapolis may therefore be taken as a correct reflection of the administration's views on these all important subjects.

A BIRD LANDLORD'S TROUBLE

We advertised a house for rent, A little wren house, painted brown, Where birds could live and be content, The finest cottage in the town.

Since then a battle grim has waged From dawn to dusk the warriors race, The blue birds claim the spot engaged.

The wrens insist they want the place, I, as their landlord, idly stand And wish their bickering would cease;

If I knew how I would command Them instantly to give us peace. But secretly I watch them fight

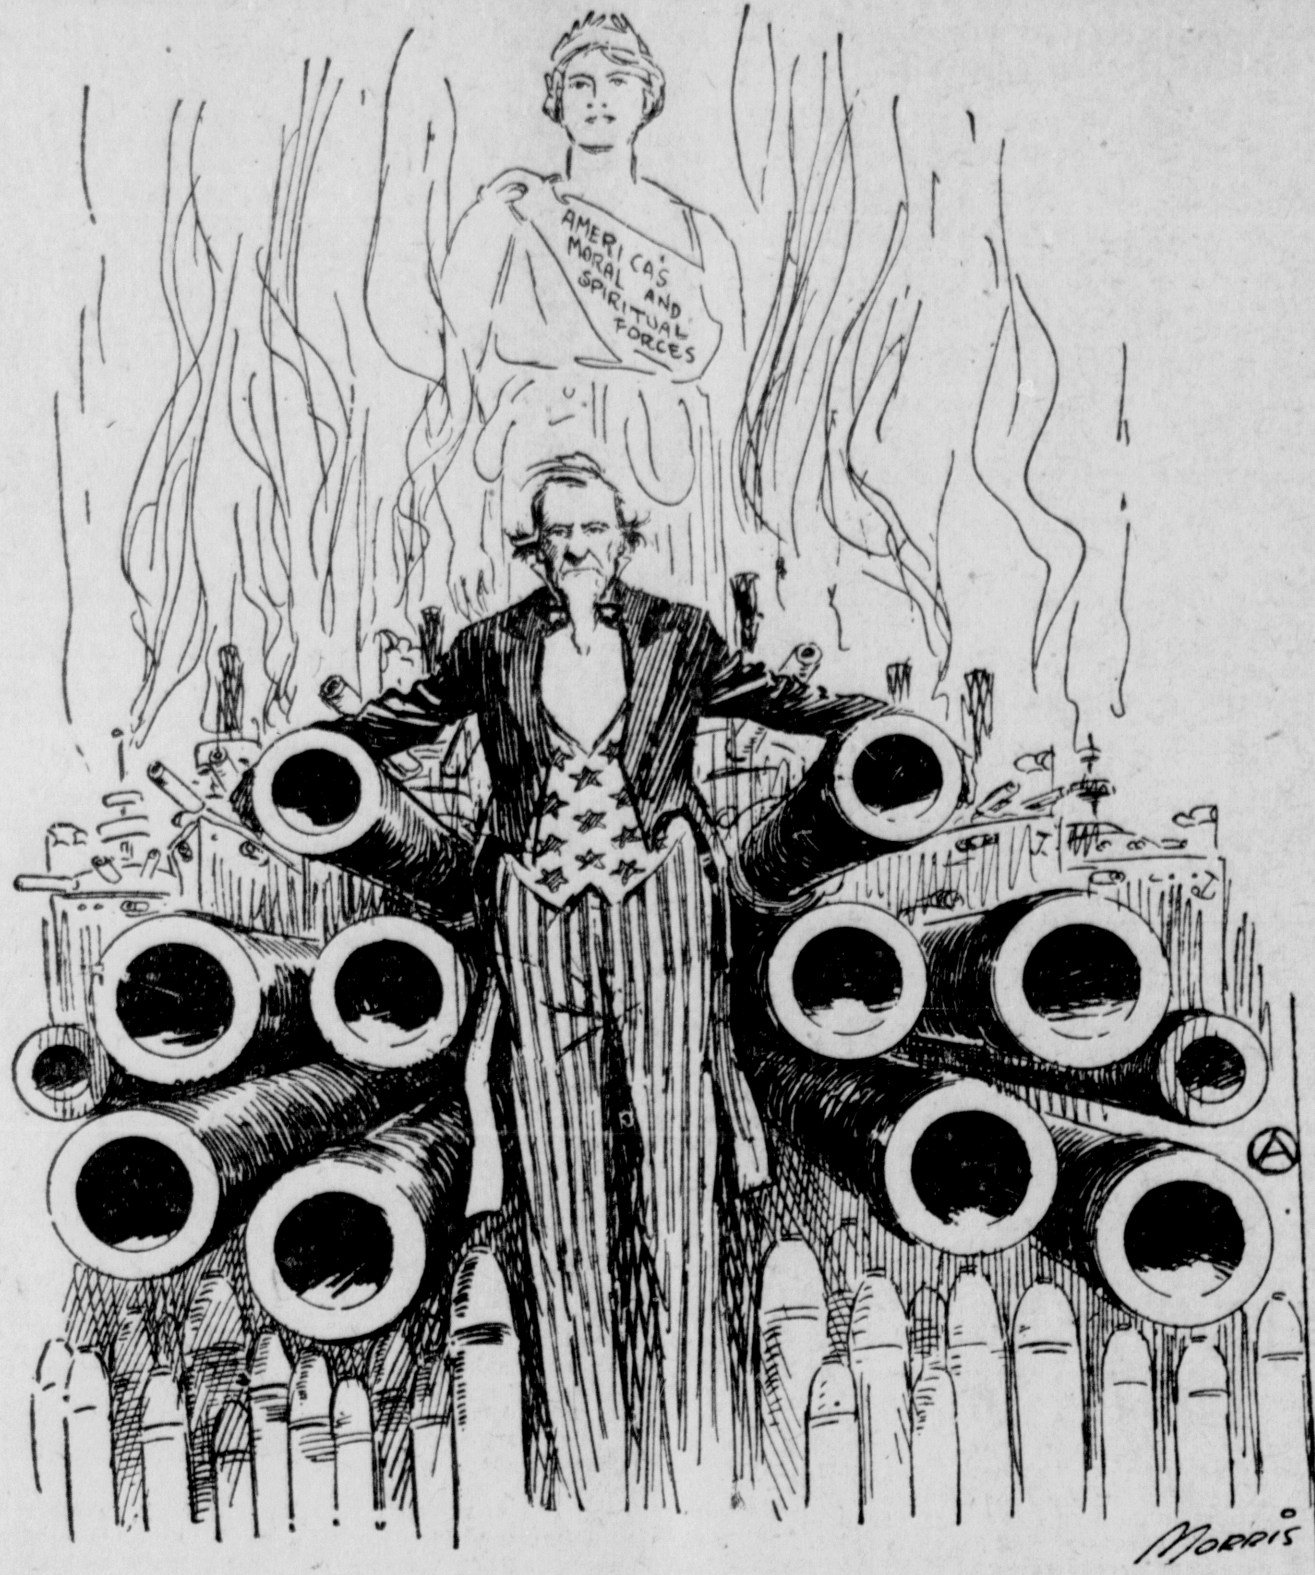

And openly I wear a grin; They ought to settle it by night, And, oh, I hope the wrens will win.

FESS SPEAKS AT TEACHERS' DINNER

Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, addressing the Ohio State Teachers' Association at a banquet Monday night, preceding the opening of that organization's summer convention at the University of Dayton, introduced an amendment to the United States senate rules at the coming session for limitation of debate during the last six days of any session.

Senator Fess told the educators that the United States stands by the world court, that France is strengthening her position on reparations, and that Germany had strengthened her relations by the recent election of Von Hindenburg.

M. L. J.: "Please publish directions for crocheting a rope necklace of beads."

Answer: Rope Necklace: Buy five bunches of small beads, 40 yards of either button hole twist or tatting thread, and two Venetian beads. String one bunch on the twist. Chain five, then put a bead in the chain stitch and join. Crochet around and around with a single crochet and put a bead in each stitch. Continue crocheting till the chain is 45 inches long. Put a Venetian bead on each end, and attach a tassle three inches long of eight double strands of beads.

Answer: Chocolate Cake: Cream one cup of brown sugar with one-half cup of butter and also rub in one half cup of white sugar. Add one half cup of sweet milk, three beaten unseparated eggs, and one and one-half cups of flour sifted with one scant teaspoon of baking soda (no baking powder.) Stir in two squares of unsweetened melted chocolate and bake this batter in three layer cake pans in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Put ordinary uncooked icing between layers and on top.

Mrs. C. A. R.: "I wonder if other housekeepers know that a simple method of keeping little red ants out of the refrigerator is to place an old meat bone under the refrigerator on a piece of newspaper? The ants will go to the bone rather than higher up. Then the bone can be easily picked up and plunged into a pan of boiling water."

water to kill the pests which cling to it. Sometimes I use a little grease as a bait instead of the bone, as ants are very fond of grease."

Answer: Thank you for this hint. W. W.: "I have inherited an old four-poster bed with wooden canopy. How is canopy draped?"

Answer: Festoon the canopy with white dimity, edged with a white ball fringe.

WATER IS SHORT

Chillicothe, June 23—This city faces a serious water shortage. The supply in the reservoir is low and the health department announced it was polluted with typhoid. All water for domestic use is being boiled. Meanwhile, the water company is sinking another well in the hope that a reserve of several millions of gallons will be available soon as is the case under normal conditions. The drought is blamed for the low stage of water.

ERECT DORMITORY FOR ST. JOHN SCHOOL

Contract for the construction of the new dormitory and hospital to be erected by the Building Society of Mary in Beavercreek Township, has been awarded to George B. Wetzel, of Dayton, it is announced. Plans call for the construction of a three-story structure to adjoin the Mt. St. John Normal School in Greene County between Xenia and Dayton.

The new building is expected to serve the purpose of a dormitory partly taking care of the overflow of students and also as a hospital for the institution. Nearly 200 students are at the institution all under the jurisdiction of the University of Dayton.

The total cost of the building is expected to approximate $30,000. It will be built of brick with tile roof.

EGGS A LA MILANAISE

Paris, June 23—Eggs a la Milanaise are prepared according to the recipe of old Pierre de Lune, who, under the reign of Henry IV., was chef de cuisine to the Duke of Montbazou.

Dissolve a little sugar in water and let one-half of it cook a few minutes. Set aside the remainder. Add the yolks of as many eggs as are necessary, beating them into the syrup, one by one, with a silver fork. One can judge the number needed by the number of guests.

To the rest of the sugar add chopped pistaches, small bits of lemon-rind, a little orange-flower water and the juice of a lemon. Pour over the egg mixture and serve.

BIRDS

With the increasing years my love for the birds of the outdoor increases. I love them as a boy but more than ever do I love them now.

I can understand how a man like W. H. Hudson could devote a long life to the study and love of birds. There are no more lovable creatures in this world. They are clothed in beauty and as they flit here and there they give out, to all who may wish to hear of their joy of heart.

I know a great publisher who has a large estate in Florida where he has arranged a wonderful bird reserve. I recently visited a city where they have made a part of their park system a section of wood just for the birds. And they have stands for different spots with a picture of some bird in it and a little description so that anyone may familiarize himself with the birds that live there.

There is nothing quite so thrilling as a bird concert out in the thick wood. The echo of a bird song at early morn or dying day is enough to raise the disheartened spirit of any man. How calm, how sweet and peaceful the never ending songs of the birds that flit about our homes and cities. Every city should appropriate a sum of money to take care of the birds who come as their yearly visitors. They should be given homes and food and every encouragement to make them happy. They always give back gladly of their joy and cheer.

For years I have carried the picture in my mind of a woman in Cleveland Ohio, who feeds the doves on one of the crowded squares. When she appears they know her so well that they flock to her like a brood of chicks.

Yesterday I stood under a tree and watched a pair of wild pigeons. Their eyes shone like diamonds. Their smooth, rich throats of brown, intermixed with a touch of color, were more beautiful than any fabric.

I have no idea of what Heaven must be like, but if there are to be no birds there, then I want to sleep quietly forever tightly within the heart of this earth conscious that beautiful birds flit above me, softening the harsh notes of a very strange world with their sweet and undying song.

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan. — "After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed. One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."—Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

WASHINGTON MAKES VICTORY BID LATE AND NAVY BENEFITS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. June 23—What would have happened had Washington made its bid for victory a minute earlier?

That was the question asked on every hand today by the stay-behinds of the 60,000 crowd that saw the Navy restore eastern rowing prestige by beating Washington a half length for the intercollegiate four mile championship late yesterday.

"It wouldn't be fair to say that the better crew won," declared young Dick Glendon, Navy coach. "They were both great crews."

That seemed to be the consensus among rowing men, although the latter were quick to state that the Middies rowed the better judged race and were all the more to be congratulated for winning with their punishing stroke. It seemed to be the general idea that Stroke Eddy of the Navy outgassed Stroke Urickson of Washington by getting the jump on him at the third mile.

Washington's rowing in the final mile was an inspiration. It cut down the Navy by a full length but its effort came too late. At that, it was the Navy that had the bigger punches in the final furlong because it was able to save something while the Huskies were rowing their hearts out to catch the leaders.

Much of this it was contended, could have been prevented, had Washington elected to meet the Navy's sprint near the bridge instead of trying to row the Middies down in the stretch.

POWER COMPANY TO ERECT POLE LINE

An application of the Dayton Power and Light Company through O. E. Howland, secretary of the company, for authorization to construct a pole line in Beavercreek Township, has been granted by Greene County Commissioners. The permit covers a period of twenty-five years.

The light company, which owns certain property in Beaver abutting on the east side of the Factory Road, beginning at the Xenia Pike and extending south for six miles, will construct a pole line along this road for the purpose of transmitting electric current for lighting and heating purposes.

The application was granted by Commissioners with the provision that the type of poles meet the guarantee and that should it be necessary the company will re-locate its poles.

TO ARRAIGN WOMAN ON POLICE CHARGE

A charge of disorderly conduct will probably be placed Wednesday against Mrs. Lewis Overstreet, colored, East Church Street, who engaged in a cutting and shooting affray with her husband late Sunday night.

Overstreet was fined on a charge of disorderly conduct in Police Court Monday.

The condition of Mrs. Overstreet, who was shot through the hand by her husband with a rifle after she is alleged to have cut his arm in several places with a bread knife, was much improved Tuesday, permitting her arraignment this week.

FOREIGNERS FIRM IN FACE OF STRIKE

Hong Kong, June 23—A firm spirit of determination not to be stamped by the growing menace of the general strike was evident in the foreign colony today, as the influence of the walkout continued to grow.

With the number of strikers conservatively estimated at ten thousand and the exodus of Chinese to Canton continuing, native banks were beginning to feel the strain put upon them by heavy withdrawals by the idle coolies and clerks.

The Chinese banks did not open today and heavy guards were placed around them to prevent any attempt to force withdrawals. Volunteer foreign forces patrolled the streets. Ocean shipping lay at the piers unable to discharge or receive cargoes.

GREINER TO SPEAK AT ROTARY MEETING

Russell Greiner, Kansas City, Mo., former Xenian, past international president of Rotary, will be the guest of the Xenia Rotary Club at a meeting at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The weekly luncheon meeting was planned in the nature of a steak roast for the Boy Scouts of the city, but after this was postponed until next week on account of inclement weather, the evening dinner meeting was planned.

POSTPONE MEET

The entertainment and steak roast at the City Waterworks planned for Troops No. 1 and 2, Boy Scouts of America Tuesday night by the Rotary Club, has been postponed for a week due to rainy weather and will be held next Tuesday night, it is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. The postponement was made late Tuesday afternoon.

G. E. DELEGATES TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Canton, O., June 23—Hundreds of delegates of the Christian Endeavor Union from all parts of Ohio are here today in readiness for the opening of their fortieth annual convention of that body in the city auditorium tonight.

The delegates will be formally welcomed by Mayor Charles M. Ball on behalf of the city and on behalf of the convention committee by Rev. J. E. Younger, of Canton. The principal address at the opening session tonight will be made by Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the old Stone Church, Cleveland. His subject will be "Out of the Crucible."

Class of One

JASPER CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Jasper Chamberlain, singly and alone, formed the graduating class of the Brown Academy at East Kingston, N. H. He was class valedictorian and, when the roll call came, his name began and ended the affair. He read the prize essay and there was dancing, a pageant and orchestral music, all in honor of the class of one.

DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT WOULD BUY DAYTON GAS COMPANY

Columbus, O., June 23—The Dayton Power and Light Company today asked approval of the state utilities commission for proposed reorganization of its capital structure and for the purchase of the $4,595,000 Dayton Gas Company.

The application stated the power company proposes to issue 320,000 shares of no par value common stock and of this total to exchange 274,770 shares for its outstanding 30,530 shares of $100 par value common stock, on a basis of nine shares of new stock for one of outstanding stock.

The contract for purchase of the gas company calls for assumption of the outstanding obligations of the gas company including $1,314,000 of first mortgage bonds due March 1, 1930, and other liabilities of $283,000, and the payment of 42,730 shares of the new no par value common stock of the power company.

POLICE CONFER TO HALT CRIME WAVE

Chicago, June 23—A police conference from which was expected to emerge the most drastic plan yet devised for stemming Chicago's crime wave, was to be held here today, while detectives were combing the underworld for the bandits who yesterday added the fifth policeman victim within 16 days to their murder toll.

Patrolman McGovern was shot and killed as scores of pedestrians looked on and a swarm of automobiles sped by down Sheridan road. He died in an effort to protect the $4,089 receipts of the Pantheon theatre which he had been detailed to guard while they were being taken to a bank. The gangsters shot him when he attempted to draw his gun.

Three men have been arrested in connection with the killing but none have been identified, police say.

PRELIMINARY WORK ON RE-APPRAISAL TO START IN AUGUST

County Auditor R. O. Wead declared Monday that preliminary work such as obtaining data and making forms, preparatory to making a county-wide re-appraisal of real estate, will probably be begun in August this year. A new law governing reappraisal in Ohio goes into effect late in July.

Auditor Wead said however, that an application for an extension of time would probably be laid with the state tax commission in order to begin actual field work in 1926 and get the values on the 1926 tax duplicate.

Farm Bureau officials, citizens, councils of municipalities, trustees of townships and school boards will be consulted before an appraisal is made, it is announced. There has been no appraisal of real estate in Greene County for nearly fifteen years. The last appraisal was made in 1910.

Auditor Wead does not expect an enormous increase or decrease in values but there will be quite a readjustment, he said. Many 1910 values will be less while others will be higher, he pointed out.

SCOUT NEWS

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Scoutmasters R. H. Kingsbury, J. J. Stout and Assistant Scoutmaster Willard Taylor attended the Scoutmasters' conference held all day Sunday at Crickett Holler, along the Stillwater River, near Dayton.

The camp opened Monday for six weeks and nearly seventy Boy Scouts are expected to attend. Xenia Scouts wishing to go to the camp are asked to communicate with the local Scout executives.

The regular meeting of Troop No. 1 was held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock instead of Wednesday, it is announced. Troop No. 2 will meet Thursday night at the same hour.

Both troops will be the guests of the Rotary Club at the Elks Home, Tuesday night at 5 o'clock, according to Scoutmaster Kingsbury. Several talks will be given including one by a Dayton scoutmaster.

SENATOR FESS WILL ADDRESS FARMERS AT BUREAU PICNIC

The annual Greene County Farm Bureau picnic will be held at the county fairgrounds Tuesday, June 30, beginning at noon.

The picnic this year is in honor of Ford S. Prince, county agent, who is leaving Greene County soon for New Hampshire to take up other work.

United States Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, has accepted an invitation to attend the picnic and will make an address.

Farmers and their families from over the county will attend with well filled baskets. Dinner will be served at 1:30 standard time. Ice cream and coffee will be furnished.

The picnic committee is composed of Mrs. R. B. McKay, Mrs. G. M. Keach, H. W. Eavey, W. B. Bryson and William W. Anderson.

COUNTRY CLUB WILL PLAY WASHINGTON

Golfers of the Xenia Country Club are scheduled to play their second inter-city golf match of the 1925 season Wednesday afternoon with the Washington C. H. Golf Club over the latter's course.

The number of golfers which will represent Xenia in the match has not been definitely settled but probably more than a score of members will participate, it is believed.

Xenia won its first inter-city match this year with Middletown last week by an overwhelming score and the locals are now sharpening up their game for the debut Wednesday over the foreign course.

Washington is yearly represented by a stiff combination of players and familiarity with their own links is expected to aid them in the Xenia match.

The local delegation will probably motor to Washington C. H.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

There are two important phases of mental life in advanced age. The first is concerned with mental activity. The second has to do with the emotional side of life. One is concerned with thinking, the other with feeling. It is difficult to say which is the more important, but this I will say, there is nothing so essential in life as the preservation of the spirit of youth.

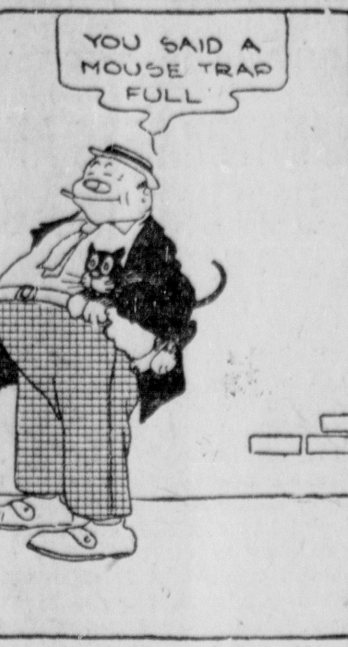

It is true that feeling and thinking are both forms of mental activity. Feeling may be either beneficial or destructive in its influence, but thinking, in itself, can only be beneficial. The calm use of the mind prolongs its power. Judges, philosophers and scientists enjoy a length of life greater than the average. The use of the mind in thinking, therefore, is not destructive of the bodily powers, but favorable to them. On the other hand, the emotional use of the mind may have an influence in either direction. If the emotions are of the destructive sort, such as hate, anger, fear, envy, or passion of any kind, they tend to shorten life. But the pleasurable emotions are life preservers. Old people should be happy.

The chief mental distinction between the youthful and the adult mind is that the former has a happily optimistic outlook on life. Youth is easily amused—is easily made happy. With adult life, the illusions of youth are likely to be lost and replaced with pessimism. Except when cursed with poverty or ill health (both often remediable) the elderly man or woman has small excuse for an unhappy attitude. Irrespective of circumstances, the only way in which life can be made worth while is by forgetting care and worry, cultivating the joy of youth and the spirit of play.

There is only one way to cultivate the spirit of play and that is by playing. The serious demands of adult life often tend to crush the playful spirit. But there is such a thing as taking even the serious affairs of life too seriously. One can meet them much better if one knows how to relax and forget them for definite periods each and every day.

If you are able to sing, continue the practice of singing as long as you can carry a tune. People who sing constantly retain their voices in extreme age, just as they retain their other powers.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXXVII
Lilah was becoming acquainted with her husband. She decided not to say anything more about her unwanted guest. But Michael brought up the subject again.

"I'll call up Lonnie and tell him not to come if you say so."

"No."

"I just didn't think—that's all. And, of course, I imagined you liked Lonnie.... I met you through him."

"I'm supposed to like him because of that?" she smiled.

"Aw—, Don't you like him?"

"I haven't any reason to dislike him. However, he bores me, at times with his sophisticated remarks."

"Well, I'll call him up and tell him not to come. I'll just tell him you had other plans for the evening."

"No, let him come. It was selfish of me to ask you to give up your friends. She looked at him wondering. Why wouldn't Michael understand?"

She turned away; his eyes followed her doubtfully.

"Wait!" He took her in his arms.

"I know I'm wrong. Please don't be angry with me, Lilah."

"I'm not."

But her eyes whispered to him that she was not telling him the truth.

Lonnie's arrival acted on Michael like a cocktail. He felt as if they had been separated for ages. Lonnie's enthusiasm was less spirited, and his conduct was noticeably more sedate than usual.

Michael was startled when, as they were having their coffee in the library, he burst out:

"You ought to be shot, Mike, because of the way you're neglecting your wife. You haven't paid her the slightest attention this evening."

Michael, coloring, cast his eyes toward his wife. She smiled slightly.

"Oh, I'm getting used to that, Lonnie!"

Her words cut him.

"He doesn't even pay any attention to me when we're alone at the table. I'm lucky if I see him at breakfast; he usually keeps behind the paper," she added.

"Why—?" He realized that she spoke the truth, but he was annoyed because she told on him.

The evening wore on. The air was heavy. Only the most conventional conversation passed, and Lilah was silent most of the time. Lonnie appeared bored. Michael felt that something was wrong. What was the matter with Lonnie? He seemed to have changed enormously since they went away.

It didn't occur to him that it was he himself who had changed. Lilah sighed and dully climbed the stairs when Lonnie had gone. Michael followed her in silence. It had been a miserable evening. Somehow he felt that she was to blame. She had not exerted herself to make Lonnie feel welcome; and what sort of conduct was that for a hostess?

"I don't think you were very cordial to Lonnie this evening," he began.

COUNTY RECEIVES $57,000 FOR WORK ON FAIRFIELD PIKE

Inter-county highway funds amounting to $57,000 have been set aside as the maximum state's share to aid in the construction of inter-county highway No. 525, Section 1, Fairfield pike, according to word received by County Commissioners from L. A. Boulay, state director of highways and public works.

The road will be repaired for a distance of three and three-fourths miles into a hard surface pike, the type of hard surface to be constructed has not been selected.

The cost of remodeling will be born by the county and state on a fifty-fifty basis, with the requirement that the type of road built must meet with the approval of the Department of Highways and Public Works.

Formal application for state aid in the cost of improvement was not made by Commissioners until early in July when a new highway law becomes effective, it is said.

CLIFTON

Miss Mabel Knott of Cleveland, O., arrived home for the Summer vacation on Saturday. She will attend summer school at Wittenberg College.

A large delegation from the U. P. Church will attend the Young People's Presbyterial convention at New California, Tuesday and Wednesday. Carson Webster, Frances Stover and Dorothy Collins will represent the Clifton church in the Bible Memory contest.

The M. E. Church held special meetings each evening of last week. Gerald McCann is attending summer school at Wittenberg College.

STEAL BEDS—FINED

Bellaire, June 23—Paul Shuttleworth and Conrad Fritche were fined $50 for stealing iron beds from Levi Litching's furniture warehouse here. If fines were not paid, a 30-day jail sentence was announced as an alternative. The men pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge after police found them hauling the beds away in an auto.

"Go Ahead and Make us Buy."

That is the 1925 attitude of men the country over—and when you hear a clothier say that the automobile has killed the clothing business, it simply means that he admits the motor folks are putting out better looking models in cars than he is in clothes.

We are making men buy by the same process that Eve sold Adam the apple idea—temptation.

Models here today that will make you change your waiting into wanting.
